Mrs. Harold Elliott Gives A Paper on "Well Known Hymns of Our Church"

The regular meeting of St. Paul's Women's Association was held at the home of Mrs. Oliver Staples on Tuesday afternoon, October 5th, with a splendid attendance. The opening exercises and business portion of the meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Walter Elliott. The meeting opened with the singing of the theme song and prayer by the president.

Following the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, and all communications received during September, the secretary reported eighteen eighteen cards sent during the past month. The September visiting committee, reported fifteen calls. Mrs. Claude Tucker and Mrs. George E. White will act as the visiting committee for October. A very complete financial report was presented by Mrs. Percy Utman in the absence of the treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Thompson. Mrs. C. Pitman, convener of the Friendly Workers' Group gave a very interesting report of their work during the past month and this Group gave another donation of fifty dollars to the W.A.

Mrs. A. Armstrong reported for the Blue Cross plan for hospital care, and the committee's extra work in canvassing the W.A. active members during September. The W. A. appointed Mrs. A. Armstrong, "Group Leader." It is expected a group will be formed, as sufficient members have signified their wish to enrol.

During the business portion of the meeting, Mrs. C. Macklin and Mrs. H. David were appointed the nominating committee to bring in the new slate of officers for 1949 at the December meeting. Plans were made for the bazaar, afternoon tea, sale of fancy aprons, knitted good, needlework, home cooking and farm produce to be held on November 25th. The W.A. will cater for the Masonic Banquet on October 21st and business connected with the same was discussed.

The programme of the day was capably directed by Mrs. E. G. Bailey, convener of the program committee. After the singing of hymn 164, Mrs. H. Donnan read the Scripture lesson, the Twenty-Third Psalm with the pianist, Mrs. Harold West, accompanying with quiet music. The hymn 168 was read responsively as a prayer.

An interesting article, "The Early History of St. Paul's United Church, formerly the Methodist Episcopal Church, was given by Mrs. E. G. Bailey. There were two Methodist Churches in Stirling, the Methodist Episcopal and the Wesleyan Methodist. The M.E. was built in 1853 where the parsonage now stands and the other at the corner of Church St. and Campbellford Road.

In 1880 the Rev. R. W. Marsh was pastor of the M.E. Church and at a meeting of that congregation on Jan. 20th, 1880, it was decided unanimously to undertake the building of a new M.E. Church. To inaugurate the enterprise, arrangements were made for a Circuit Finance meeting and the proceeds from the dinner amounted to $152.00, while subscriptions were received in the evening to the amount of $2957.00. However, the difficulty arose in the selection of a site and nothing more was done till February 23rd, 1881. The site had been procured from Mr. L. G. Baker, which was two lots on the north side of Church St. and west side of Station St. for $400.00 and the payment had been made in full for it. The building committee was re-organized with the following membership, Rev. R. W. Marsh, Isaac Denike, John Green, Thos. Scott Sylvanus Hubble, Geo. I. Hubble, Hiram Conley, David Martin, Wm. Girdwood, James McKee, Uriel Wright, David Tucker, Luther Tucker, Lyman Wheeler, Bidwell Sine and Sylvester Sills. The tenders for the building of the church were higher than could be accepted and a postponement of plans was necessary. Tenders were again invited and on March 23rd, the contract was awarded to Richard Longman, the lowest bidder, for $6100. The plan of the church was similar to Brighton Church.

Construction started in the spring,

Apple Blossoms In October

Apple blossoms in October are a bit unusual but Mr. C. M. Sine, Stirling, RR. No. 1, brought a cluster of blossoms, which he had picked off a snow apple tree in his garden, to the News-Argus Office on Friday last. Later the same day, Mr. Ernest Saries, of Minto, brought some in he had picked from a tree on the farm of Arthur Wood, Ivanhoe. Apparently the fine weather we have had is fooling even nature a bit.

but before the year ended, the contractor became dissatisfied and was released from his contract, after which the committee completed the work with a foreman, Arthur Elliott, in charge. Mr. Marsh had the satisfaction of knowing that the work was almost completed when in early June, 1882, he was transferred to another charge and Rev. F. B. Stratton was in charge of arrangements for dedication services in July 6, 1882, and completion of the church was effected that year. A mammoth Tea Meeting was held on Christmas night for the support of the Building Fund (and all canvassing for it was done by the men). The first anniversary of this church was observed on Sunday, July 8th, 1883, followed by a dinner at 11 o'clock the next day.

In 1884, the union of the different Methodist denominations was effected and the United Methodism in Stirling elected to worship in the new edifice so recently completed by the M.E. branch of that church.

In 1885, Rev. O. R. Lambly, having succeeded Rev. F. B. Stratton, took in charge the organization of a representative Board of Trustees, the following being duly chosen and appointed: David Martin, Uriel Wright, Wm. McKee, Wm. Girdwood, R. R. Clute, David Tucker, Walter S. Martin, Peter Martin, Andrew Glass, Benjamin Bush, Robt. Girdwood, James Kyle, T. G. Clute, Robert Jones, Henry Utman, George Hagerman, Wm. Martin, J. W. Eggleton, John Hough.

For 40 years the Methodist Church continued to fulfil its purpose in our midst, its constituency being somewhat altered early in this period by the founding of the Bethel Church, with resultant loss of membership of many of those who had laboured for the church in Stirling. On June 10th, 1925, after an honourable and fruitful period as a Methodist Church, it passed into the service of a wider fellowship, henceforth to be a place of worship of the United Church of Canada and is now known as St. Paul's United Church. This name was chosen by Mr. Williams a former Public School principal.

The church was renovated during the pastorate of the late Rev. A. J. Terrill who served the Stirling charge from 1913-1917.

Mrs. W. Yateman, in an interesting manner explained the significance of the United Church of Canada seal, the oval form, which is in accord with ancient ecclesiastical usage. Three of the four emblems represent the three historic Communions which form the church and are so placed in relation to one another as to have religious meaning.

Mrs. Harold Elliott, Past President of the Womens' Association of Hastings and Prince Edward Counties, was the guest speaker and spoke on the subject, "Well-Known Hymns of Our Church," illustrating a few by playing the variations on the piano. The speaker gave a short sketch of the different authors of the hymns

NEWLY-WEDS WERE HONOURED BY THE COMMUNITY

Over one hundred relatives, friends and neighbours gathered at St. John's Parish Hall last night to honour Mr. and Mrs. Ray Tanner, (nee Marjorie Haggerity) who were recently married.

Mrs. Walter Savage welcomed the guests and introduced Rev. A. J. Anderson, who acted as chairman for a short programme, consisting of community singing led by Mrs. Lindsay Tanner, piano solos by Mrs. Harry Morrow, and a reading by Mrs. Ernest Carr.

Mr. and Mrs. Tanner were given seats of honour and Miss Marie Ackers read an appropriate address, after which a number of gifts including a complete set of enamel ware, in red and white, bed spread, pair sheets, towels and kitchen utensils, which were displayed on a decorated table, were presented the young couple. St. John's Women's League and Ladies' Guild also honoured Mr. and Mrs. Tanner with a gift. Mrs. Harry Smith read the address and Mrs. Thos. McConnell made the presentation. Mr. and Mrs. Tanner very graciously thanked the donors for their lovely gifts and Mrs. S. McCrory thanked all those who contributed to the programme.

A dainty lunch and a social hour brought a pleasant evening to a close.

Stirling High School Defeat Madoc 22-0

In the first game of the interscholastic Rugby League played on the Fair Grounds here last Friday night, Stirling High School defeated Madoc by a score of 22 to 0. The locals overshadowed the visitors in all departments of the game. The local team was well handled by quarterback Benny Mason and H. Barlow, with two, Ted Dobson and McLachlan accounted for major scores by the locals.

No Restrictions

Because of the fact that maskinonge fishing ended Oct 1, and bass and bass and pickerel fishing is still open until Oct. 15, fishermen are asking if there are restrictions on angling. Some think casting and trolling from boats is illegal the same as in the spring, but this is not so. There are no restrictions to angling until Oct. 15. A fisherman can troll or cast from a boat using natural or artificial bait, but if a maskinonge is hooked it must be returned unharmed to the water.

MRS. EVA McGEE CHOSEN AS PRESIDENT OF TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Mrs. Eva McGee, Stirling, R.R. 2, teacher at Ridge Road School, was elected President of the Centre Hastings teachers at their annual convention held in St. John's United Church, in Tweed, on Friday, October 1st.

Following the opening exercises which were conducted by Rev. A. L. Sisco, the president, Miss Helen Rush gave a short but thought-provoking address which set the convention's standard for the day.

The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $61.84.

Committees were appointed as follows:

Nominating — Grace Moran, James Irwin and Mrs. Louise Dolan.

Resolutions — E. C. Prentice, C. A. Wells.

Auditors — Mrs. Florence McCoy, Donald Runnalls.

Arithmetic in Grade 5 was the topic of a very helpful paper by Miss Grace Moran, Tweed Consolidated School. Useful devices for teaching and reviewing the number facts were suggested and shown. This thoughtful paper should prove of help to the younger less experienced teachers, as well as to those of experience. Enthusiasm on the part of the teacher is a must if accuracy is to be achieved. Accuracy and Confidence

Grade 6 Arithmetic was discussed by Mrs. Florence McCoy, of Tweed Consolidated School. Accuracy is secured by insisting on it from the beginning. The child should be taught to be satisfied with nothing less than that. This gives the child confidence, she said. These two, accuracy and confidence, are essential to success. A splendid practical paper by an experienced teacher.

"Literature" was the subject treated by Miss Margaret Wright. This is the most important subject on the program of studies and the teacher must have a perfect understanding of the selection and an enthusiastic love of literature. Interpretation and appreciation go together. Literature is more than the meanings of words.

This paper by one of the most experienced rural teachers should prove beneficial to all teachers.

The place of reading and memory work was dealt with.

In the afternoon Miss Loreen Connor, president of the local unit of the Women Teachers Federation, spoke briefly on the work of the Federation. Mr. A. W. McGuire welcomed the teachers of Marmora township and Marmora and Deloro villages back into Centre Hastings Teachers' Institute.

He spoke of the value of township meetings of teachers which would be continued during the year.

Teachers were urged to get reports in on time, to prepare lessons thoroughly and to be enthusiastic about their work. He advised teachers to purchase $25 worth of books for each class room. Mr. McGuire said that discipline in the class room was very necessary to success.

Grammar, which has been neglected for some years is coming back and should be given the important place which it deserves.

Purpose of Art

Dr. C. D. Gaitskill, Director of Art for the province of Ontario was the next speaker. The teachers of Centre Hastings had sent in a list of questions for Dr. Gaitskill to answer. He chose a number of these questions and answered them. The new course is not new because ideas along this line have been in the minds of art educators for many years. The old course trained the child's hand to obey his eye, but leaves out the rest of the child. The new course is the education of the whole child, not merely the training of the hand and of the eye. The purpose of art is life and experience, the making of artists. All topics in the art course must be based on the life and experience of the child. He must be allowed to choose his own subject with broad suggestions from the teacher.

Materials need not be expensive — even junk, cardboard boxes, string, tinsel paper, newsprint and any other material of similar nature may be used, as well as more expensive paper and other materials. Collections of child's art should be placed on the walls of the halls and class rooms. The child must be able to see what he had contributed to the life of the school.

Primary Work

"Black Board Work and Charts," Miss Katherine McQuarrie, of Tweed Consolidated School. Miss McQuarrie is a most successful teacher of primary work, gave the younger teachers some excellent ideas and devices with charts which she employs in her own class room. Miss McQuarrie had taken a summer course in primary methods and brought back many new ideas which she gave to the teachers.

Pre-Primers and Supplementary Reading: Mrs. Margaret Derry, S.S. 10 Huntingdon.

Mrs. Derry recommended the use of the three pre-primers, "We Look and See," "We Come and Go," and "We Work and Play." Devices and cards were shown. Names of supplementary books were given. Some discussion was provided by experienced teachers.

Mrs. Eva McGee gave an interesting and useful paper on an essential aspect of primary work in phonics.

The following officers were elected for 1948-1949:

Officers b
Honorary President — Inspector A. W. McGuire

President — Mrs. Eva McGee, Stirling.

Sec.-Treas.—S. H. Connor, Tweed.
Executive — Miss Loreen Connor, Madoc; E. C. Prentice, Marmora; and Miss Margaret Wright, Ivanhoe.

Mr. S. H. Connor was chosen secretary for the thirty-third successive year, having first been appointed in 1916.

It was moved by C. A. Wells, seconded by E. C. Prentice that the following resolutions be adopted: (1) That a vote of thanks and appreciation be sent to the pastor, Rev. A. L. Sisco, and the official board of St. John's Church, Tweed, for their kind permission for the use of the church by the teachers of Centre Hastings for their convention; (2) That the caretaker of this church be paid a fee of four dollars for extra work in connection with the convention; (3) That the secretary's salary be $15.00 for the coming year; (4) That a vote of thanks be extended to the ladies of St. John's United Church for the lovely dinner which they had provided; (5) That the Basic Grammar be made available to the pupils for their own use, at a set price; (6) That the arrangements for the holding of the next convention be left in the hands of the executive; (7) That a hearty vote of thanks be extended to Mr. McGuire, the executive and to all those who have contributed in making the convention a success.

Miss Marian Johnson, of Belleville, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bailey, Carmel, things. Knowing about the causes of entertained on Wednesday Mr. and fires, and paying constant attention to the prevention of them, is fair insurance that you will not have one. The lessons are very obvious. Don't take chances with fire no matter how small. Call your fire department in case of fire without unnecessary delay. Keep doors closed to room when retiring to prevent rising heat and toxic gases over coming you after a fire really happens. Have some way of getting out of your room other than the main doorway in case of fire.

Smoking in bed is one of the main causes of fires in the home: 29.26 per cent of all home fires are due to this cause. Misuse of electricity is a close second, 10.38 per cent; defective chimneys, flues, etc., 6.94 per cent; hot ashes and coals from open fires, 4.03 per cent; ignition from hot grease, 3.06 per cent. These are the most important causes though there are many, many more. Remember, it is the simplest things that more often than not cause fires and refrain from contributing any part in the spread of this dread scourge by taking every precaution within your power. Don't stack rubbish or trash too close to a heating unit. Don't dump hot ashes into wooden containers. Keep cellar and furnace room clean of all waste. These are but a few of the simple rules which, if observed, will serve to prevent fires . . . do your bit . . . make certain that through no carelessness of yours will disaster come to your home.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

CULL FLOCK AND RETAIN BEST EWES

With the approach of Fall it becomes necessary to select the ewes to be retained in the breeding flock. A ewe that does not produce a satisfactory lamb in the ensuing spring, is a charge against the rest of the flock. For that reason the flock should be made up of individuals in which the possibility of this occurring is kept at a minimum. In addition, ewes that are culled in the fall can be marketed at a fair price and many of these ewes because of age or infirmity would not be able to stand the strain of pregnancy and their death would therefore represent a direct monetary loss as well as the loss of a winter's feed.

In culling the flock each fall two main factors must be taken into consideration, says S. B. Williams, Animal Husbandry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Will the individual satisfactorily raise a lamb or lambs; is she of such a type to maintain or improve the standard of the flock? Ewes to be retained in the flock must be healthy and have a full mouth. Broken mouthed ewes will not do well when on dry winter feed. Theudder should also be inspected and ewes showing any unsoundness should be disposed of. Too much attention should not be paid to condition since often the thinner ewes have raised a pair of lambs some of those carrying ample flesh may not have nursed. Adequate records of each ewe should have been kept and those ewes whose lambs have not done well, because of an insufficient milk supply, should be marked for the block.

When the ewes in these categories have been removed, the flock should be inspected again and all animals not up to standard for conformation, fleece or breed type should be removed.

All ewes culled should have their places taken in the flock by high quality yearling saved from the previous year for flock replacements.

If a program such as has been described is followed annually, a flock of active, hardy, high-producing ewes will be assured.

GRAIN CROP PRODUCTION

The second estimates of production of the principal Canadian grain crops for 1948, issued September 14, by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics are in general higher than the estimate released on August 17. Exceptionally good maturing and harvesting weather prevailed quite generally throughout August and accounts largely for the enhanced production prospects. The wheat estimate has been advanced 19 million bushels over that of mid-August to 391 million bushels.

Oat production is now estimated at 361.7 million bushels, barley at 157.3 million, rye at 26.7 million and flaxseed at 17.7 million bushels.

As this estimate is based on conditions existing on August 31, before completion of harvest, it is more in the nature of a forecast, and may still be subject to significant revisions in later estimates.

DISEASE RETARDS FOOD PRODUCTION

Production of food is dependent in large measure upon the labour force which is available to agriculture, and the nature of a forecast, and may still be subject to significant revisions in later estimates.

POTASH SUPPLY

Potash supply from the United States and Europe should be ample provided that the tonnage arranged in France materializes as expected.

Sulphate of potash with which to make tobacco fertilizer with low chlorine content may be short again this year.

Sulphate of potash with which to make tobacco fertilizer with low chlorine content may be short again this year.

Capital investment in Canadian farms in 1947 amounted to $6,253,716,000 according to the Quarterly Bulletin of Agricultural Statistics for April June, 1948.

The items normally included in this figure are lands and buildings, implements and machinery including motor trucks and automobiles, and livestock including poultry and animals on fur farms. Because there is no information available yet on the value of fur-bearing animals on farms in 1947 this item is omitted. Despite this omission, the total value of farm capital for 1947 is eight per cent above the 1946 value of farm capital and a higher standard of living generally.

In the cases of malaria and several other diseases which afflict agricultural areas, there are available new weapons, including insecticides and drugs. In the field of agriculture there are available advanced techniques. But there remain considerable areas of good agricultural land which are depopulated or poorly worked because of disease. The control of disease in such areas, with subsequent resettlement and intensive cultivation accompanied by the possibility of increasing yields by introduction of better methods, improved seeds, use of fertilizer, drainage and small irrigation projects, would raise the level of living for millions of people.

The first World Health Assembly, which met recently in Geneva, agreed that the secretariats of FAO and WHO "should collaborate in examining the problem of selecting areas for demonstrating control projects on the basis of the feasibility of effective malaria control and their potentiality as regards increased food production."

FERTILIZER SUPPLY

GENERAL GOOD

In general, there should be a sufficient supply for Canadian 1949 crop

It may not be sufficiently realized by farmers that the Dominion Government provides protection for the Canadian livestock and poultry feeder through the Feeding Stuffs Act and Regulations. This Act is administered by the Plant Products Division of the Dominion Department of Agriculture and in brief is designed to set minimum standards of quality and chemical composition for all common feed stuffs offered for sale in Canada.

The manufacture and sale of the various feeds has developed into an industry of considerable size and importance. For example, during 1947 the manufacture of mixed feeds alone totalled 1,585,782 tons with a selling value at the plants of $80,186,107. This does not include chopped grain, mill feeds, protein feeds and all other feed ingredients which come within the scope of the Act and which would bring the total to upwards of 5,000,000 tons.

This volume obviously presents sampling and testing difficulties, but all feeds are sampled and tested periodically. Last year some 4,480 samples were taken across Canada and tested chemically for protein, fat, fibre and mineral content and tested microscopically for physical composition.

Many feed manufacturers conduct their own tests and most do their utmost to produce high quality feeds, but all will agree that the government supervision, through testing and the Feeding Stuffs Act itself, has tended to have a better type of feed placed on the market for livestock and poultry consumption in Canada.

PEAK POULTRY EXPORTS

Canada's poultry exports are at an all time high, taking care of much of the current offerings, reducing storage stocks, and keeping the market much firmer than at this time a year ago.

In the first eight months of this year, that is, from January 1st to August 31, Canada exported more than 31 million pounds of poultry, compared with 7 million pounds for the entire 12 months of 1947. The previous peak year of poultry exports was 1944 when the year's exports totalled only 30 million pounds.

Last year, the bulk of poultry exports was dressed birds going to the United Kingdom. This year, live birds exceeded dressed with practically all of both alive and dressed going to the United States.

Storage stocks are down. On September 1, the quantity of fowl in storage was only 2½ million pounds, compared with 7 1/3 million pounds a year earlier. Storage chicken totalled only 2½ million pounds, compared with 4½ million pounds on September 1, 1947.

The producers getting the most from export sales are those who raise their birds to heavy weights and finish them well.

SEASON WHEN MEN ARE SHOT FOR DEER

Wild game of all sorts is reported to be particularly plentiful in North-east Ontario this Fall.

The season will soon be at hand when stories of hunting accidents will daily find their way into the news columns.

The northern forests in the Fall of the year are an attraction that draws thousands of citizens from the towns and cities of Ontario and the adjoining states of the Union. Deer trails have an allure that those who have once brought down their buck find hard to resist. The call of the moose, the whistling wings of the teal and black duck, the splash as they alight on the water's surface in a reedy inlet, the whirr of the ruffed grouse, suddenly flushed, have a peculiar fascination for the ardent sportsmen who make their annual trek to Ontario's great hunting grounds of "leaf fall" in the late Autumn.

For the most part these voyagers into the north are experienced in the use of firearms and will exercise care in handling of their weapons. But there will be many tyros whose experience in the handling of guns and rifles is limited.

Frequently these men, unaccustomed to the ways of the woods, are the victims of accidents or are the cause of others being killed or seriously injured. There are occasions when a man is mistaken for a deer; a finger presses the trigger on the spur of the moment before the eye has identified the target; a gun discharges through careless handling; a trigger catches

In the underbrush — accidents that take a steadily mounting toll of life. For an accident of any kind and especially one in which a gun-wound is inflicted, is a serious matter far back in the woods, miles from human habitation, and from a point where medical attention is available.

Nor is it always the tyro who is responsible for the accidents which too frequently end fatally. Even the experienced hunter grows careless at time and neglects to take proper precautions to ensure his own safety and that of those who are with him—then there is another killing.

While all these accidents that occur during the hunting season are not to be ascribed to carelessness, there is no question that the greater percentage of them are to be attributed to failure of sportsmen to exercise the precautions that are necessary if accident is to be avoided.

At this juncture, recess was declared so all could visit the tables and make purchases.

At 4.30 p.m. the ladies were seated at decorated tables in the basement and were served afternoon tea including a large array of jellies, cakes and other appetizing refreshments.

Mrs. Ray Shortt, of Bethel and Mrs. John S. McKeown, Rylestone, voiced thanks for hospitality at the close of a delightful afternoon. The receipts of the day were very gratifying to those who had worked so hard to make the day a success.

Boldrick-Mumby

Nuptials

The United Church at Springbrook Ont., was the scene of a very pretty wedding at 2 p.m., on Saturday, September 25, when Rev. Ralph Barker, of Stirling, united in marriage Audrey Linn, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Mumby, of Springbrook, to Everett Carman Boldrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Boldrick, of Tweed.

Colorful gladioli and asters were arranged at the altar with banking of ferns on either side as suitable background for the ceremony. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Clarence Thompson, of Rylestone, cousin of the bride. Mrs. Tom Saries of Stirling, sang "I Love You Truly" before the ceremony and "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a floor-length gown of ivory slipper satin, buttoned down the back to the waist; long sleeves; French lace yoke and sweetheart neckline, with the bouffant skirt inset with matching lace panels. Her embroidered fingertip veil of Brussels lace was caught with a net coronet, and she carried a cascade of pink roses tied with blue satin ribbon.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Norma Mason, of Belleville, who wore a floor-length gown of blue brocaded satin, with fishtail bustle back, French nylon net yoke and wide Peter Pan collar. Her embroidered shoulder veil was held in place by a band of pink rosebuds and she carried a cascade of pink roses tied with blue satin ribbon.

The groom was ably supported by his brother, Douglas Boldrick, of Tweed, while the ushers were Delbert Mumby and Don Boldrick, brothers of the bride and groom.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for about seventy-five immediate relatives and friends.

The bride's mother received in a dress of grey silk crepe, matching hat, and black accessories and wore a corsage of red roses, while the groom's mother wore blue silk crepe, with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Misses Jean Morton, Ruth Knox, Molly Mumby and Lois McCaw, friends of the bride, served.

Amid showers of best wishes, confetti and rice, the happy couple left for a wedding trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls and Buffalo. The bride chose for travelling a grey gabardine suit, black shortie coat and black accessories with a corsage of pink and red roses.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Boldrick will reside in Belleville.

The groom's gift to his bride was a chest of silver, "Plantation pattern". The bride's gift to the groom was a Ronson lighter; to her bridesmaid a gold compact. The groomsman and ushers each received leather billfolds, the soloist and pianist, cups and saucers; to the waitresses, each a set of silver earrings, and those assisting in the kitchen each received glass hand-painted cookie containers.

Guests were present from Huntsville, Port Hope, Bancroft, Belleville, Coneston, Campbellford and Tweed.

The flax crop of Western Canada is estimated to be 68% greater than in 1947 and is worth about $70 million, about $40 million of this is in Manitoba.

Hello Homemakers! Homes wired for electricity have an average of 66 outlets and switches. When we asked the manager of a local Public Utilities Commission about conservation, we were amazed to discover that the amount of electricity used in homes in this particular community, is comparable to the amount used by industries. As a matter of fact, our homemakers exercise control over about 35% of the electricity used in Ontario. So we can say that the homemaker "engineers" the management of much electricity.

Unfortunately, however, there are no check charts to indicate the number of times she turns on the hot water tap and makes the water heater switch on. In the rural area this also forces the pump to operate and therefore two electric switches are operated by turning a tap—sometimes unnecessarily.

There are women who own a modern electric range but do not operate it wisely. For instance, they roast a piece of meat in the oven, boil potatoes on one surface element, carrots on another, make a sauce on the third and a pudding on the fourth. With forethought and the use of ovenware dishes, all the above foods may be cooked in the electric oven using one element only.

Like many other household duties, we should plan the management of electric switches. Women who prevent waste of electricity will be rewarded, for this will mean there will be sufficient power to operate industrial and farm machinery—such equipment provides the husband's earning, and the necessities for the home.

Water Heating

1. Do not use running hot water. When bathing, doing dishes or laundry, use it sparingly.

2. Do not leave hot water taps dripping; replace worn-out washers on taps.

Washing Machine

1. Soak soiled clothes in cold water. 2. Fill washing machine with hot water only to the water line.

3. Use warm water for only one rinse; a second or third rinse can be made in cold water.

4. Apply soft soap to very soiled areas of goods and time laundry operation: 8 minutes for bed linens and 12 minutes for soiled clothes. Rinsing in machine requires 5 minutes per load.

Home Lighting

1. Invite the family to group around an adequate lamp for good vision—for reading, studying and mending.
2. Do not burn lamps in unused rooms; do not forget to turn out lamps as soon as you leave the room.
3. Keep lamp shades and fixtures clean; dirty fixtures absorb as much as one-quarter of the light.

Electric Range

1. When you roast or braise meat, plan an oven meal which can be cooked at the same time.
2. Cook all vegetables in a small amount of rapidly boiling salted water. When the vegetable is added, cover with a tight fitting lid and turn the element from High to Medium or Low.
3. Use kettle which fits the electric element so that the entire cooking surface is heated quickly.
4. Use your pressure cooker whenever you can.
5. Make a time chart for the amounts of foods cooked for your family and abide by the chart you compose.

Refrigerator

1. Defrost refrigerator regularly every week or 10 days.
2. When storing food, or preparing meals, make one "loading" or "unloading" do.
3. Do not use the refrigerator to store foods which should be in the pantry. Take out jams, pickles and canned goods.
4. Be sure and cool hot foods before putting them in the refrigerator.

Other Appliances

1. Do not leave the radio on when no one is listening.
2. Turn iron off before the ironing is completed—it will retain enough heat to finish several articles.

NEW LOOK IN POLITICS

The two national political conventions held in this nation's capital in a relatively short time have given even the impartial observer the exceptional opportunity of meeting large numbers of representatives of both major parties from across this country and of gauging their opinions so that it is most significant to report from "on the spot" inside this capital that these gatherings were not cut and dried affairs where delegates were button-holed or dictated by higher-ups how to vote or to act in face of widespread and implications of all sorts causing such impressions to circulate outside this capital.

It is possibly true that lobbyists as well as others may have worked behind the scenes but any experienced political observer of such national meets is not startled by such reports since these tactics are traditional and there is nothing new nor sensational about them, with such similar stories having come out of the previous national convention of the Liberals in Ottawa in 1919 when Mackenzie King was named leader and in Winnipeg in 1942 when John Bracken was chosen to head the Progressive-Conservatives. However, these gatherings were not controlled by higher-ups and delegates were not gagged nor their freedom curbed in voting or discussing resolutions, policy or leadership quite bluntly, the 1948 gatherings were no "rubber stamp" meetings except by stretching the imagination beyond reason and they were not run from the top as rumours insinuate with the remark that, compared with previous national gatherings of this kind, the activities in these latest gatherings of more women delegates and representatives of the younger age groups were strongly suggestive of progress and changes in tune with the times.

In conclusion, the reaction of the delegates, the rank and file at these big conventions the greatest reorganization has left little doubt that these meetings were not "rubber stamp" gatherings and this will be proven true in coming events in the federal political arena, it is hinted here, with both big political parties proceeding immediately to mend their political fences for a possible general election in 1949 or shortly thereafter. Indeed, it may be reported that opinion along Parliament Hill now is that following these big conventions the greatest reorganization and intensification activities in the history of both parties will be carried out in the coming months as a bid for popular approval of the electorate is made.

Louis St. Laurent is a little older than 65-year-old Hon John Bracken whose decision in part at least to retire was attributed by him to his age and it is an open secret here that Premier Drew's delay in announcing his decision about contesting the Progressive-Conservative leadership was interpreted here as possibly intended to indicate the job was seeking the man rather than the man was seeking the job. Likewise, other much publicized doings and speculations before the selection of each leader were colorful stories but, not in reality, as important as they appear to be since "on the spot" in this capital there is little doubt that platforms and policies were far more important.

Freshly imbued with the likes and dislikes of the "little people" in the constituencies which they represented across this country and of gauging their opinions so that it is most significant to report from "on the spot" inside this capital that these gatherings were not cut and dried affairs where delegates were button-holed or dictated by higher-ups how to vote or to act in face of widespread and implications of all sorts causing such impressions to circulate outside this capital.

War Pensions Cost

"The policy of the Pension Commission is to award, not to deny, the pension which is at all times subject to the provisions of the Pensions Act," emphasized Brig. J. L. Melville, Chairman, Canadian Pension Commission, during an address here, revealing that the Commission is paying monthly in excess of $8,000,000 to the 200,000 disabled ex-servicemen of World Wars I and II so that for the present fiscal year a total of $105,000 would be needed for such purposes. It was an expenditure never before equalled and was due in part to the 25% pension boost granted early this year.

They're Still Buying

Notwithstanding all gloomy stories that retail business is not as good as last year, yet official information here seems to contradict such opinions, with this information based on a nation-wide survey by the authorities. This survey reveals that in the first seven months of 1948, Jan. 1 to July, retail sales advanced 12.1% over the similar period of 1947, with all areas showing gains such as 15% each in Ontario and British Columbia, 10% Quebec, 9% Prairie Provinces, and 7% Maritimes. In various trades, there were gains of 18.3% for women's wear stores, 16.4% variety stores, 15.3% food, 13.8% department stores, 12.3% shoes, 12.1% men's clothing, 10.2% family clothing, 8.7% country general stores, 9% drug stores, 8.3% hardware stores, 6.4% radio and electrical stores, 4.4% restaurants, 2.4% jewelry, etc. These gains were in dollar volume.

Said in the Capital

"Together, local, provincial and federal governments will spend more than $100,000,000 a year from now on in making people happier, healthier in mind and body," prophesied Health & Welfare Minister Martin in an address here.

"There is no venture that service clubs could support with better results than these camps that take boys off the streets," said Sgt. J. F. Ade, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, in a speech in the capital in discussing camping facilities for boys in summer months.

"A park should be beautiful but we should not be afraid to use it as well as look at it," recommended L. H. Weir, Director, Parks and Recreation Service, Washington, D.C., in a talk to experts here.

"I hope that I shall be worthy of the opportunity of giving further service to my country," stressed External Affairs Minister "Mike" Pearson, concerning his new job as Minister of this Department.

"The people of Canada and United States must understand that rates must increase or hotels will not be able to operate," said the well-known American hotel company executive and former Canadian, David B. Mulligan, during a visit to this capital, revealing that operating costs of hotels have jumped up over 250% in recent years.

Ottawa is the finest, prettiest and cleanest city in the world and I have travelled all over," was the high compliment to this nation's capital by William H. Sayen, of New Jersey, where he is head of the Mercer Rubber Co.

Weekly Wind-Up

With pay, conditions and opportunities greatly improved in Canada's armed services, the army, navy and air forces are seeking suitable recruits to bring them up to requirements for national defence and there is no doubt that any casual examination of the change indicates that life and opportunity in the services are considerably better now than in pre-war days.

Most people think of a museum as a collection of curiosities, whereas in reality it is a living thing and an invaluable channel for modern education, emphasized here, the Director of the National Art Gallery, H. O. Mc-

Curry, stating that plans have been made for the initial meeting in this capital of the Canadian Museums Association in October, with curators from the larger museums across Canada attending.

Prefabricated hospitals, nurses' quarters and doctors' quarters are being built for the Health Department of the Canadian Government and moved into remote areas where the treatment of Indians and Eskimos has always been difficult, is as reported here.

The proposed Dominion-Provincial conference on the Trans-Canada highway is likely to take place in Ottawa sometime this fall or early winter.

MUNICIPAL SCHOOL

The Department of Municipal Affairs in a letter to all Municipal Councils dated Sept. 11th, gives in detail the schedule and proceedings of a school to be set up in Bancroft from Oct. 20th to 22nd, for the instruction of correct proceedings in assessing, auditing and accounting, and to clerks and general information. This school has been in operation by the Department for the past two years and has proven its worth to municipal officials who have attended.

ENGLISH JOURNEY

BY WALTER R. LEGGE

ARTICLE 10

At Bristol we stayed at the Royal Hotel where the Canadian editors lived for ten days in 1942.

This hotel was severely damaged by a bomb in 1941 and about half the hotel, including the dining hall was destroyed. Some of the damage has been cleaned up but the hotel is still carrying on with about half of its rooms.

The Royal was the only hotel at which we stayed overnight during our whole six weeks in England as the rest of the time was spent with relatives and friends. We were made quite comfortable at the Royal and the meals were better than other hotels at which we ate.

To give some idea of the meals here the breakfast menu on May 25th was stewed apples or porridge or cereal; grilled mackerel or Finnan haddock or kippered herrings or scrambled eggs; toast; tea or coffee, while dinner on the same day was soup; roast turkey or grilled turbot or waste beef; dessert; tea and coffee. Helpings at all hotels are very small, but few offer such a splendid variety and these menus cannot be taken as indicative of the average menu in better class hotels in England today.

Among the guests at the Royal while we were there was Chief Tito-Gaspari, Winyi IV, chief of the 100,000 people of Bunyoro-Kitara-Uganda.

Bristol is one of the most historic and interesting cities in England although it suffered more than most places during the war.

Here John Wesley built his first chapel and founded the Methodist Church — Wordsworth wrote his first poem — and from here John Cabot sailed to discover the mainland of America, and many other equally not able things the part of Bristol's history. It was the birthplace of Robert Southey.

Among the unique things at Bristol is Christmas street, a steep street, partly stairs, which was opened in 1669 and is apparently unchanged since then.

Another ancient landmark is the Norman gate which stands near Bristol Cathedral.

Bristol is one of the municipal ports of England only six miles from the sea, and the way in which ships come up almost into the centre of the city is most astonishing. When we were there two Swedish warships, the Stockholm and the Norrkoping were paying a courtesy visit to Bristol and gave the astonishing appearance of being moored in the middle of the street.

Bristol's real gem of architecture is St. Mary Redcliffe Church which Queen Elizabeth declared was the fairest, goodliest and most famous parish church in all England. Although many buildings around it were destroyed by bombs, St. Mary Redcliffe escaped serious injury although marked by flying fragments.

Another church, famous for its leaning tower, Temple Church, was completely destroyed, leaving the leaning tower still standing and still leaning three feet, nine inches out of perpendicular. It was only recently discovered that vandals had deliberately hacked to pieces many stone and marble memorials which emerged undamaged from the destruction wrought at Temple Church by the German air raiders. To get at them the vandals had to batter down stout iron bars and wire netting.

There are many of the most attractive spots easily reached from Bristol.

One of these is Wells, an ancient cathedral city.

Wells Cathedral is one of the finest in England, famous for many unusual features. Its history goes back 1220 years when a church was built by the wells which still flow and fill the moat around the bishop's palace. Parts of the present church were built in 1191 and the wonderful west front with its rows of statues was built between 1206 and 1242.

In the church is one of the oldest and most unusual clocks in the world dating from 1392. As each hour approaches crowds of visitors gather to watch for the striking of the hour. Knights on horseback revolve in opposite directions representing a tournament, while a figure known as Jack Blandifer, seated some distance from the clock, strikes his heels against bells, and on the outside of the walls, two knights in armour strike with battle axes on bells.

The stone vaulting and carving both inside and out at Wells Cathedral is beyond description.

The Bishop's palace grounds are surrounded by a high wall, outside of which is a moat in the water of which are many swans and ducks. The swans have been trained to ring a bell whenever they are hungry.

Near the cathedral is a famous old street known as the Bishop's Close, one of the oldest and prettiest streets in England.

About five miles from Wells, lies Glastonbury Abbey which now in ruins draws thousands of visitors from all parts of the English-speaking world.

It is the legendary Isle of Avalon, and evidence shows that Glastonbury was actually at one time either an island or a peninsula.

Legend tells that Joseph of Arimathea wandered into Somerset and one Christmas morning reached the Isle of Avalon. The saint struck his staff into the ground, whereupon it sprouted and flowered and the brethren accepted this as a sign that their wanderings were over and they erected a small Wattie church on the site.

St. Patrick is believed to have visited it on several occasions.

It is the Avon of Tennyson's poem of the death of King Arthur and in the Abbey ruins is marked the reputed burial place of King Arthur and his wife Gwenevere.

The body of King Arthur was discovered and buried before the High Altar of Henry II and it is recorded that the relics were visited by Edward I and Eleanor in 1276.

Glastonbury Abbey at one time was one of the largest, finest and most revered in England, but it has fallen into ruins which still retain some measure of majesty.

About a mile away is the Blood spring or Chalice Well, under the waters of which, according to legend, Joseph of Arimathea hid the Holy Grail, of Chalice of the Last Supper, whereupon the waters gushed forth red. It is reasonably certain to believe that the first Christian baptism in England took place here. The masonry is believed to be of Druidic origin. The spring is chalybeate and its output of 25,000 gallons a day has never failed.

Other ancient landmarks in Glastonbury include the Pilgrims Inn built by Abbot Selwood in the 15th century, with a remarkably panelled front; the Abbot's Barn, a cruciform building, 93 feet long with massive walls, dating from the fourteenth century; the Abbot's Kitchen, a gem of medieval architecture; and the ancient almshouses.

No visitor to England should miss spending a couple of days at Glastonbury and Wells.

Before leaving Bristol we paid a visit to Bristol Cathedral which is not so well known to Canadians as it should be, for it is a beautiful building with many Canadian associations. In it are the colours of the 128th Canadian Battalion of Moose Jaw. The original colours were deposited on March 11, 1917, but were later taken back to Canada and duplicates were substituted in the Cathedral.

Bristol Cathedral does not present the appearance of antiquity that many others possess, but this does not detract in the least from its dignity and impressiveness. However, the Elder Lady Chapel dates from about 1230, much of it to the fourteenth century and the nave and western towers are modern but designed to harmonize perfectly with the whole. The architecture includes Norman, Early English, decorated and perpendicular, some of it being of unrivaled beauty.

From Bristol we made our way by stages back to Liverpool where we had a few hours before boarding the Ascania for home.

The Germans did their best to destroy Liverpool but without success although there are still numerous signs of the damage they accomplished.

"Service With A Smile"

In Hymen's Bonds

LOHNEs—KENT

St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, was the scene of a very pretty Fall wedding on Saturday, October 2nd.

at 2:30 p.m., when Daisy-Ellen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kent, of River Valley, became the bride of Raymond Harrison Lohnes, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Lohnes, of Frankford, Ont. Rev.

W. Harry Morrow and Mrs. Walter Warren sang "May All the Joys Be Thine," during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a brocaded sheer, period gown, with a chantilly lace yoke, draped and caught with seed pearls; her full skirt was thrice draped at the front, revealing rows of very fine lace. Her full-length veil of tulle illusion was caught with a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade of red roses.

Miss Lorna McConnell, close friend of the bride, was senior bridesmaid and wore a gown of blush pink silk taffeta, with a low neckline, fitted bodice and peplum, with very full skirt, draped in the front to reveal her lace petticoat. Her shoulder length veil was of pink tulle and was held by a headress of pink flowers; she wore pink tulle mitts and a double strand of pale pink pearls, the gift of the bride and groom. She carried a nosegay of yellow 'mums, centered with a pink rose.

Miss Margaret-Marie Kent was her sister's junior bridesmaid. She was attired in a turquoise silk taffeta gown fashioned the same as the senior bridesmaid's. She wore a shoulder-length blue tulle veil and mitts and wore a pale blue double strand of pearls, the gift of the bride and groom and carried a nosegay of yellow and mauve 'mums, centered with a tea rose.

Little Miss Julia-May Savage was her cousin's flower girl, and she wore a lilac silk taffeta dress, fashioned on the same lines as the bridesmaids'. She wore a lilac poke bonnet and carried a nosegay of bronze 'mums centered with a pink rose.

The bride's and groom's gift to the flower girl was a gold bracelet and to the organist and soloist, dainty earrings and to the ushers and groomsman, a pen and pencil desk set. The groom's gift to the bride was a cheque for fifty dollars.

Mr. Eugene Lohnes was his brother's groomsman, and Mr. Walter Savage, uncle of the bride and Mr. Bruce Bell were the ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for forty guests at the Dutch Mill Inn, Trenton. The bride's mother received, wearing a cinnamon crepe dress, with green accessories and a corsage of yellow 'mums. The groom's mother assisted, wearing a blue figured jersey dress, with black hat and a corsage of white 'mums.

All those interested in providing hockey for the younger boys of the Village and district are urged to be present and assist in making plans for the coming season.

A. J. Anderson, rector of St. John's officiated at the ceremony.

The church was tastefully decorated with baskets of Michaelmas Daisies and ferns, while multicolored asters adorned the altar; the guest pews were decked with white bows and small bunches of Daisies.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Harry Morrow and Mrs. Walter Warren sang "May All the Joys Be Thine," during the signing of the register.

Out-of-town guests were from Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal and Belleville.

Nephew of Bonarlaw Resident, Head of Hospital, Rescued From Raft

Victoria, Oct. 5 — After clinging to a life raft for 35 hours, Dr. H. A. McLean, head of the Nootka Mission Hospital, was rescued off the west coast of Vancouver Island.

He reported the loss of the Messenger II, sturdy little mission and hospital ship, and the disappearance of his 14-year-old son, Bruce, presumably swept overboard on Monday.

Meagre details of the tragedy were received today by long distance telephone from Mrs. McLean, now at Nootka, 175 miles northwest of here.

The mission boat, it was reported, was en route from Port Renfrew, 50 miles northwest of Victoria, to Bamfield, B.C.

Dr. McLean is a nephew of Mr. Jesse Barlow, of Bonarlaw.

This was very entertaining and all the ladies deeply appreciated this address and music by Mrs. Elliott.

Mrs. Harold West favoured the W.A. with a pleasing solo, "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied at the piano, by Mrs. Harold Elliott. The meeting closed with the singing of a hymn and prayer. A very dainty luncheon was served by the committee.

The sincere thanks to the hostesses, Mrs. Oliver Stapley, Mrs. Grant Stapley, the guest speaker, Mrs. Harold Elliott, all who took part on the program and the entire committee in charge, for the excellent meeting was ably voiced by Mrs. Volney Richardson.

"Thanksgiving" Theme of River Valley Women's Institute Program

Money Raised For Food Boxes To Be Sent To England — Good Programme

The October meeting of River Valley Women's Institute was held on October 7th and was based on Thanksgiving.

The hostess, Mrs. Frank Carr and Mrs. Ernest Carr entertained about twenty-five members and visitors.

Mrs. Percy Utman presided and after the opening exercises, the roll call was answered with the keyword, "What Am I Thankful For?". In the business period mention was made of sick members and thanks was tendered for boxes received. Mrs. Ed. Kent will be the delegate to the Area Convention in Belleville in November and it is hoped others will be able to attend.

Twenty-four ladies each paid 25 cents to be used for a special Christmas box for Bristol, England W.I. and twenty ladies each paid $1.00 in lieu of baking at Stirling Fair. This money is to be used to send boxes of food to England. Plans were made for a quilting in the near future. At the November meeting, Mr. A. O. Dalrymple will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. Don Donohoe prepared the programme which was based on Thanksgiving and read a poem "The Landing of the Pilgrims". All sang "For the Beauty of the Earth" and Mrs. John Donohoe read a poem, "This Far So Soon".

Mrs. Percy McMullen gave a paper on "The Story of Thanksgiving" and said in part: "Thanksgiving to God for blessings received had its beginning with the ancient Jews. The Greeks and Romans also observed the day and during the reign of Queen Elizabeth, Old England enjoyed a Harvest Home Festival. In 1621, the Pilgrim Fathers set aside a time of Thanksgiving in the Plymouth Colony. Soon Thanksgiving spread to other colonies but it was not nationally observed until President Lincoln issued a proclamation setting aside the last Thursday in November. The idea spread to Canada and each year the date is fixed by the government."

The President, Mrs. Agnes Hammond, conducted the devotional period, opening with the hymn, "Come Ye Thankful People Come." Mrs. R. Hermiston read from Galations 6: verses 1 to 9 and led in prayer. There was a lengthy business session and it was decided to hold an Anniversary supper. Hymn 599, "O God of Bethel," was followed by a reading, "In The Garden of The Manse," by Edna Jacques given by Gena Spy. Mrs. Vernon Matthews delighted all with a piano solo "Autumn".

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

CLEAN UP GARDENS NOW—FOR SPRING

Now is the time of year to clean up the garden, for it is the time when many insects are looking around for suitable spots in which to spend the winter.

Many of the most injurious species of insects pass the winter adhering to plants on which they were feeding when cold weather arrived, others crawl beneath piles of plant refuse and hibernate there throughout the winter. A few work their way down into the layer of dead organic matter. All such insects should be looked upon as a menace to next year's garden, for a large proportion will survive the winter and attack the growing plants in the spring.

A general fall clean-up will mean a better garden next year. All standing crop remnants should be pulled and burned. Crop refuse lying on the ground should be raked up and destroyed. It is advisable where practicable to burn over wast land surrounding the garden to kill any eggs of hibernating insects.

Insect egg masses or cocoons are often found in shrubs and low trees, or even on fences, garden furniture, outbuildings or houses. Cleaning these up in the autumn will prevent them causing trouble next spring.

Digging or plowing the garden in the fall will expose many of the insects in the soil, which will be killed by the severe cold in the winter.

COMMITTEE INSPECT HYBRID CORN PLOTS

An inspection party of 40 corn growers, dealers and government plant breeders recently toured Ontario's corn growing areas for four days to examine trial plots of new hybrids. Members of the Ontario Corn Committee, the group saw for itself how the new varieties of corn are thriving in the varying soils and climate of the province. Later, when the test plots are harvested, weighed and analysed, the committee at its December annual meeting will make definite recommendations on the suitability of the new hybrids in different regions.

Hybrids form about 95 per cent of this year's Ontario husking corn crop which promises to be a bumper one.

CORN HYBRIDS IN THE MAKING

An intensive program of selection, inbreeding and cross breeding of corn is carried on annually at the Dominion Experimental Station at Harrow, Ont., with the sole object of producing superior hybrids that will be adapted to the various soil and climatic areas of Ontario. Indeed, "Corn Hybrids in the Making" is a true expression of the activities at the Harrow Station each July and August says G. F. Buckley Senior, Assistant in forage crop work.

The breeding program consists of isolating inbred lines and combining them into successful hybrids. This involves four major steps: the establishment of inbred lines; the making of single crosses; the making of double-crosses; and the thorough testing of the double-crosses.

Inbred lines are extracted from open-pollinated varieties or strains and also from single and double cross material. Selected plants are inbred and the new lines are self-pollinated for five or six generations after which time they become practically stable. During this stabilizing period rigid selection and testing is carried on so that only the best inbred lines survive for cross purposes.

The stable inbred lines are placed in groups of nine or ten and all possible single-cross combinations are made within each group. The single-crosses are then thoroughly tested and only the best are used in making the double-cross hybrids.

The third step is the making of the double-crosses. Here the single-crosses are crossed in as many ways as possible to determine the best double-cross combinations. The double-cross seed is the material used by the farmer to produce his crop of hybrid corn. The final step is testing of the new double-cross hybrids. These are tested along with the best commercial hybrids for at least two years and in several districts in Ontario. The outstanding experimental hybrids are then ready for commercial production.

Thus it will be seen that at least ten years are required to produce a new hybrid—six years of inbreeding to stabilize the lines two years for making the single and double-crosses and at least two years for testing the hybrids. During this period the plant breeder studies his material closely and eliminates all but the best.

IRRIGATION AIDS CANADA'S RESOURCES

Irrigation on the Canadian prairies dates back more than 70 years when a settler named John Glen diverted water from Fish Creek eight miles south of Calgary to irrigate 15 to 20 acres of native hay meadow. The works apparently were built without engineering help, but this project served nevertheless to demonstrate the value of irrigation. During the years that followed, numerous small projects were developed throughout southern Alberta by ranchers and farmers, mainly for growing winter feed.

The first large irrigation project, says W. L. Jacobson, Head of Irrigation Investigations, Experimental Farms Service, was put into operation in the Alberta territory in 1901 when a canal was completed to divert water from the St. Mary river near the International Boundary, and carry it to the Lethbridge area.

Other large developments were undertaken at Strathmore, Brooks, and Vauxhall but development including both construction and settlement, were interrupted by World War I. Some further construction took place during the twenties when the Lethbridge Northern, Mountain View, and United irrigation projects were developed. By 1939 more than 500,000 acres of land were served by irrigation from large projects in Southern Alberta.

ties gave added impetus to irrigation expansion, and with the growing need for farm land and living space there is now a heavy demand for more irrigated land.

To meet this need the Dominion Government, through P.F.R.A. and in co-operation with the Province of Alberta, has now under construction, or is planning works to greatly increase the irrigated areas of Alberta.

The first of these developments, the extension of the St. Mary project and the St. Mary river dam, which is the key structure and main storage in this system, is now under construction. This dam, it is expected, will be completed before the end of 1950, and will contain 5 million cubic yards of earth gravel and rock. It will be 186 feet high and provide live storage for 285,000 acre feet of water. Additional storage reservoirs and canals will be built to provide water to areas of land suitable for irrigation lying between the Lethbridge area and Medicine Hat.

Two additional developments being planned include the extension of the Canada Land and Irrigation Project, and the Red Deer River diversion which would serve a large area of land in the low rainfall region north of the Red Deer river east and south of Hanna.

All three projects are located within the area that is aptly described as the "dry bowl" of the Canadian prairies where low precipitation and relatively high evaporation losses combine to give irrigation a high value.

The development of these irrigation projects involving upwards of one million acres, will provide for the fuller use of the water resources in the rivers of Southern Alberta, ensure a more stable economy, and ultimately add greatly to the agricultural wealth of this low rainfall region of Canada.

PESTS TAKE TOLL OF FARM INCOME

Canadian farmers spent approx-mately $10 million on pest control products in 1947. This figure, obtained from the first "Special Survey on Sales of Pest Control Products by Canadian Registrants", issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, is about one-half of one per cent of the gross income of about two billion dollars for the same period.

It appears that Canadian farmers spent relatively little in the control of pests which yearly consume and destroy an amount estimated at about 17 per cent of the national farm income—$350 million worth of food and other farm produce. With modern pest control it is estimated that 80 per cent of this loss could be averted with a subsequent increase in output and efficiency of production.

Technical workers in Canada have always been interested in finding the extent and nature of the losses caused by the action of pests. A recent estimate, made on quite a conservative basis, includes the following (Continued on Page 7)

Mrs. Christie gave a paper on the World Council of Churches, which came into existence in August of this year.

The Council was held in the Cathedral of Holland at Amsterdam, and was made up of 1450 representative church leaders from 145 churches and from 40 countries. The achievement of this Council cannot be measured in things done. It lies in the hope for the future. Prejudices were broken down, mutual understanding arrived at and the unity of the church experienced and acknowledged. Truly the way has been paved for a United Protestantism, which is unique in the history of religion.

Mrs. C. Macklin described the Communion Service held at the Council when Christians from nearly every country in the world partook of the sacred element. Mrs. J. B. Thompson read The Message of Greeting sent out from the World Council. A solo, "The World Must Be Conquered for Christ" was sung effectively by Mrs. Harold West.

The first Chapter of our new Study Book on China was given by Mrs. A. Armstrong, assisted by a number of the members. This chapter gave the Life History of Margaret Li, whose family were Buddhists, but who through the influence of Dr. Hartwell was baptized at an early age in the Christian faith, and today is a teacher and evangelical leader in her native province of Szechwan.

A hymn and the repeating of the Mizpah benediction brought the meeting to a close and the members were then served a delicious lunch by the committee in charge. The members were very grateful to Mrs. Pollard and the committee for a splendid program and for the hospitality extended them.

Mrs. R. A. Hermiston.

The appointment of a nominating committee resulted in the following ladies being named, Mrs. S. McIntosh, noon, October 12th. The Devotional and Mrs. L. Rodgers. Mrs. Walker gave a brief report on the Mission work in Formosa. Mrs. Hermiston explained that there were church calendars for sale and asked for a good response to this appeal.

Mrs. E. Cain then took charge of the following program: a hymn was sung and prayer offered by Mrs. Cain; a reading "Bushel for Bushel" was given by Mrs. S. McIntosh, which was much enjoyed; Mrs. Vernon Matthews played a piano solo which was deeply appreciated; Mrs. C. Tunmon gave a splendid reading, "My Thanks I Give". Mrs. Walker gave a reading, "Looking for Trouble". The topic, given by Miss Gena Spry had a lesson for each one present. Civic holidays and Labour Day are holidays but they do not inspire people. Thanksgiving Day does inspire people to their highest good. The truly thankful people are often those who do not have too much for themselves. The gifts of God have been the basis of our livelihood. At this Thanksgiving we should recognize God's goodness to us during the past year. God has provided with a lavish hand. Man does not live by bread alone. A Christian life should be one of thanksgiving. Mrs. Matthews favoured with another piano solo.

Mrs. Cain thanked all those who had taken part in the program. After the singing of a hymn, the meeting was closed by all repeating together the Mizpah benediction. Mrs. Kenneth Ray moved a vote of thanks to

Mrs. Don McIntosh for the use of her home, and to Mrs. Cain and her helpers for a splendid meeting.

Springbrook W.A.

The regular meeting of Springbrook W.A. met at the parsonage on Thursday, October 6th, with vice-president, Mrs. Geo. Bailey, in charge. Hymn, "We Plough The Fields and Scatter" was the opening hymn, followed by the theme song and W.A. prayer. Lesson thoughts were given by Mrs. G. Broadworth, closing with prayer Psalm 57 was read responsively. The Roll call "A Thanksgiving Verse" was well responded to. There were 2 visitors present. The number of cards sent during the month were 20 and 21 calls were made.

Mrs. K. Thompson expressed thanks for sympathy cards sent to her at the time of her bereavement. It was decided to not hold the anniversary supper this year.

The program was as follows: Topic, "Luke", by Mrs. J. A. McKeown; reading, "Discovery", read by Mrs. Roy Brown and one by Mrs. Bailey, "Rural Churches Have a Neglected Look". Collection amounted to $3.17. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. Lunch was served by the ladies in charge.

Crisis and R.C.A.F.

The crisis in Berlin over the Soviet Union's blockade of the German capital and the determined, heroic air service by Britain and United States, which has reached the United Nations Security Council, has been the subject of much talk backstage in Ottawa where it is believed that some new decision by Canada in regard to possible participation by the R.C.A.F. may be forthcoming later. What this decision will be may depend on the developments at the United Nations' meeting in Paris and whether or not this air service will be expanded. It is forecast by observers here that these two factors may determine Canada's new stand on the air lift.

Political Strategy

It is now understood in this capital that the newly-chosen Progressive Conservative leader George Drew, will shortly not only make a tour of the country from coast to coast but that he will make an energetic drive to reorganize the party in every direction, with the basic strategy behind these steps being that the party should be fully prepared for the sudden calling of a general election. Such a snap election has been rumoured here for some time now, with gossip saying it may come early next summer. Likewise, it is expected here that the recently-chosen leader of the Liberals, Louis St. Laurent may start a drive to reorganize that domestic political life will be greatly revitalized in the coming weeks.

National Emergency

The acute housing shortage across Canada is still described here as a national emergency and the Canadian Welfare Council has concluded that the lack of dwelling accommodation is the most pressing of all national social problems of the moment so that the latest report of the Canadian Government on the number of dwelling units completed in Canada is considered of the utmost interest. This official survey shows that in the first eight months of 1948 an estimated 43,571 dwelling units were completed in Canada, including 35,410 one-family detached units, 2,290 two-family detached, 876 row or terrace 4,916 apartment or flat units and 7,900 others.

It is estimated by officials here from the types of dwellings being constructed that 28% of the dwelling units completed in the first eight months of this year are for rental purposes and that the remainder will be owner-occupied. The proportion of rental units has fallen from 30% for the first seven months and 32% for the first six months, indicating that a much larger proportion of the completions in the last two months are for owner-occupancy.

Drop in Prices

Unofficially, it is predicted here that there will be a gradual drop in meat prices soon, though this may be followed by a slight increase in some areas in the coming winter, even if this increase would most likely not reach the peak recorded in 1948. Much will depend, it is hinted, on the reaction in the United States where experts are now predicting bluntly that meat prices may come down. With U.S. markets loaded prices are bound to fall somewhat, it is stressed.

Important Story

There is no attempt in this capital to minimize the importance of the report that the adoption of the "unified" screw thread by the United States, Britain and Canada can be interpreted as the first major step towards a general standardization of industrial production linked to defense preparations. Indeed, it is possible, if not probable, that the handicap of a lack of standard equipment and tools amongst the Allies during the past war was a big error and it is now hinted that this mistake will not be repeated, if another war should ever break out. To the average Canadian this story may not appear to be of major significance but it is regarded with utmost importance by defence authorities here, especially since it is pointed out that, if standardized, it can be an accomplished fact in one direction, it might also be in other respects.

... Teo Fydikos
koductionists

This means that eventually there may be a general standardization of tools and equipment used by Britain, United States and Canada, if the present initial step on the "unified" screw is advanced in other directions as it's generally expected here.

Commission on Transportation

There is intense interest along Parliament Hill in the apparent decision at Cabinet level to appoint a Royal Commission under the Public Inquiries Act for the purpose of examining and reporting upon questions of economic policy within the jurisdiction of Parliament involved in the operation and maintenance of national transportation. In this connection it is pointed out that the Public Inquiries Act excludes from its operation inquiries regulated by any special law. The scope of the Royal Commission will not extend to questions or matters which, under the Railway Act, are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Board of Transport Commissioners.

Demands Will Increase

It is forecast here that when the next session of Parliament opens, probably towards the end of January 1949, there will be an insistent chorus of demands for lowering of taxes, with the latest report that $454,615 surplus has been achieved by the Canadian Government between April 1 and Aug. 31 compared with $443,972,000 for same period last year helping the case of those asking for tax cuts.

Said in the Capital

"I think myself that they should be admitted and I think the Legion now should be tolerant," said Capt. Dave Burgess, MC, past president of the Canadian Legion in Ottawa, suggesting that NRMA troops who served in World War II theatres of war should be permitted to join the Canadian Legion.

"While we must never overlook the importance of safe custody, we must realize the importance of turning out the prisoner better equipped than when he entered," declared Maj.-Gen. R. B. Gibson, Commissioner of Penitentiaries, during an address here to officers of Canada's penal institutions.

"The best way to fight Communism is to give our young people parks and recreational facilities," advised Hon. Alexander Tache in a talk in the capital.

"No matter what their political views Canadians will view this spectacle in shame and reassert their demand that the federal government act on the need for low rental housing now," commented CCF leader, M. J. Coldwell, on the eviction of families from army barracks in a certain Canadian city.

"It was told that discipline in Canadian schools was not too good," asserted Miss Norah Latham, of Nottingham, Eng., exchange teacher now in Canada. "After a week here I don't agree," she emphasized.

Weekly Wind-Up

Perhaps, it is the beginning of something important so that it can be reported now that hotels appear to be having more rooms readily available, it is learned in Ottawa, with the situation easing up considerably for travellers.

While reports have indicated that United States authorities are barring many labor leaders from entering the country, yet inquiries here now show that this ban is not directed in the least at trade unionists in general but only against known or suspected Communists in particular.

Plans are completed for a huge gathering here of the Civil Service Assembly of Canada and the United States, with about 600 delegates coming for this big gathering, including Sir Percy Waterfield, Commissioner for the United Kingdom Civil Service, who will be main speaker.

Due to the serious power shortage, the construction of the $57,000,000 Les Joachims project, initially scheduled for completion in 1951, will be delivering at half capacity at least by early 1950. It will be a 480,000 horsepower plant.

Salaries paid engineering and science teachers in Canadian universities are definitely inadequate, the Canadian Council of Professional Engineers and Scientists indicated at a meeting here recently.

In face of rumors to the contrary the relationship between the city and Federal District Commission of this nation's capital have always been of the most amicable nature possible, with no feud existing, it is learned on the highest authority here.

It is reported here that Communists in Canada are still trying to persuade displaced persons arriving in this country to join their ranks but their efforts are not meeting with much success.

ENGLISH JOURNEY

BY WALTER R. LEGGE

ARTICLE No. 11

Everyone who goes to England is anxious to see some of the bomb damage. Time and workmen are fast healing the scars, so that in some cities, when open spaces are seen, one does not know whether they are the result of bombing, fires, or just spaces that have never been built on.

In the smaller places and open country the casual observer today would see little or no signs of the late war. After a while, certain depressions in the fields can be recognized as craters caused by bombs and any resident of a community will readily show where any incidents occurred.

Most of the larger cities still have many signs of bomb damage, although it has been cleared up in some cities more than in others.

There is a vast area of workers' homes which can be seen from the trains going from Waterloo station that in 1942 looked pretty awful, with apparently little left but the walls. Today those same houses are all repaired and inhabited, and from the train look the same as any other district of workers' homes. There are many other sections that have been repaired in the same way.

In London, one of the first places that the visitor goes to see is the area around St. Paul's Cathedral, and it has changed very little since I was there in 1942. The miracle of St. Paul's left almost unscathed while everything around was demolished. It can still be really appreciated when seen.

There is much bomb damage to be seen in Liverpool, Manchester, and other places, but Bristol still appears to me to have the most striking examples of bomb damage. There may be other places with just as much devastation, such as Dover, Coventry, Hull, Portsmouth, etc., but Bristol shows more concentrated damage than any other city that I visited on this trip.

If anyone is interested in stories of war thousands of them can be collected for although little is left on the secret list, only a small percentage of the stories have ever been told, in print at any rate.

The chief warden of a large area, almost entirely rural, recounted some of his experiences, and even got out some of his records to give some figures.

It was in his district that one of the most fantastic incidents of the war happened. It had appeared in print before, but is worth telling again. A parachute laid mine was dropped one night, and the parachute caught on the chimney of a large mansion. A maid in the house was not able to sleep all night on account of the noise of something scraping on the wall outside her window, but she never got up to see what was causing the noise. The next morning it was discovered that a land mine, 10 feet long, was hanging from its parachute caught on the chimney, and it was this mine, swinging back and forth, that had kept her awake.

Almost as fantastic was a similar incident when a land mine fell in a narrow space between two hay stacks, and the parachute held the mine just off the ground.

The wardens and their staffs had a most efficient system by which they were advised of everything that happened in their territory and were able to get to any spot in a remarkably short space of time. They were also kept advised of progress in other areas.

One night this warden was called to a house that had been bombed. There were two women in the house. An assistant came up to report that it was impossible to get one of the women into the ambulance, so the warden went down to investigate. He found that this woman was suffering from shock and was absolutely rigid in a sitting position, as she had been sitting when the bomb struck. When they pushed her feet down, her head came up, and when they tried to lower her head, her feet came up, the only way that they could get her into the ambulance was by taking out all the shelves.

In another case, a bomb sheared off the side of a house in which two women were staying, and one of the women walked out of the house unharmed.

It was in this area that the largest unexploded bomb fell. It was in a field not far from a town. As was the procedure in such a case, the residents of the neighbourhood were evacuated, and the bomb disposal squad started digging for the bomb. They dug down over sixty feet before abandoning the search for the time being. It was later located 84 feet down in the earth.

To give some idea of what England went through during the bombing might be mentioned that in this area which covered 84 square miles, mostly rural as mentioned before, there fell 346 high explosives, 9 doodle bugs, 13 parachute mines, and many thousands of incendiary bombs.

The worst experiences that this warden had were when planes crashed, and he told of one flying fortress starting out on a mission that crashed with its load of bombs. The plane and its crew of ten were blown into thousands of small pieces.

There is an interesting story about a hamlet of a few houses that I visited. Early in the war this hamlet was filled with evacuees from London. Soon after they arrived a number of bombs were dropped in the vicinity, and one bomb demolished a small house at the edge of the hamlet. The evacuees all tramped back to London. They said it was safer there.

One of the most fascinating stories was obtained from a very distant relative who is a survivor of Dunkirk. Like most of those heroes, he was not very anxious to talk about it, but with the help of his wife, we managed to get a few details.

He enlisted at the outbreak of war, and as he had a badly needed trade, he was shipped to France three weeks after he enlisted. When his company started evacuating his pal was hit in the shoulder, so he carried two rifles on a forced march of 16 miles. By the time he reached the beach, he was more or less every man for himself. He had five others found by him for food only one small tin of sardines. One of them managed to eat a small pig, but they had just had it recently cooked when a small bombble hit pieces.

Hearing that there were boat nine miles away, one of them set off to try and reach him. Snipers were firing at them all the way, and he managed to get to the beach, he was really taken off by a bullet, but by the time all he had left was his trousers, boots, a tin hat and his wrist watch and he hadn't shaved for four days.

On arrival in England, they were sent north on twenty-two hours leave. As he was destitute, he applied for pay, and in a fit of disgust he said that he finally got 10 shillings.

It would not be difficult to get material to write a story for a long time to come.

TYPING AND SHORTHAND CURSE

If sufficient pupils of grades XI, XII and XIII are found to be interested, a special one year's course in typing and shorthand will be instituted at the Trenton High School commencing in September, 1949.

News For The Busy Farmers

among the financial gains which would accrue to Canadian agriculture by thorough and economic pest control. The saving on milk production is estimated at $10 million; beef, $26 million; control of miscellaneous insects, $34 million; disinfecting seeds, $100 million; weed control, $122 million; control of rats, $15 million; a total of $37 million.

Increase in production of animal products has been demonstrated by the use of DDT residual sprays in and about barns; and rotenone, thiocyanates and DDT applied to the animals during the summer season to control flies.

Control of certain weeds in grain and other crops by the use of 2, 4-D, oils and other materials would result in increased production as well as a reduction of labour and expense on this, one of agriculture's biggest headaches. Seed disinfecting would also show an economic return in increased stands with lower rates of seedling.

The damage done by rats could be greatly reduced by rat proofing of buildings, elimination of harborage and waste food, as well as poisoning and general clean-up campaigns.

All these and other control methods have been employed and it is estimated that their widest economical use would result in immense savings.

The Pesticides Inspection Services of the Dominion Department of Agriculture are working constantly with other Government services and industry to see that effective pest control products are available. The quantities of the most efficient pesticides known continue to increase, while those of doubtful and superseded value are fast disappearing from trade channels as a result of this co-operation and effort. Buyers now more than ever before, can be assured that the pesticides they buy will do the job claimed for them on the label, when used as directed in their campaign against the pest foe.

Hello Homemakers! Hearty home spun foods are popular when the family gather. The fragrance of bacon, corn bread on a chilly October morn is something to awaken happy memories of days when breakfasts were meals to be reckoned with; of country kitchens with crackling in the stove; of children shuffling through piles of golden crimson leaves.

I like to remember the old family traditions, but they are particularly nostalgic about the dishes my mother used to make—the pies, the biscuits, the pungent pickles and simple delights. These hearty foods belong to fall menus.

BRAN CORNBREAD WITH BACON

1 egg
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups milk
1 cup cereal bran
3 cu cornmeal
1 1/2 cups sifted pastry flour
4 tsps. baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
4 pounds diced side bacon

Grease a 9 x 9 inch cake pan. Preheat electric oven to 400 degrees. Beat egg and sugar together, add milk, bran and cornmeal. Sift flour with baking powder and salt and sift into first mixture. Pour into prepared pan. Arrange bacon in top and bake 30 minutes. Eight servings.

As a supper dish serve this with scalloped tomatoes or a creamed vegetable cooked in electric oven at same time as cornbread.

CHICKEN LOAF

Choose a 5-pound rather fat hen and have it disjointed. Barely cover the pieces with water. Add a few sticks of celery, a small onion, sliced, and two or three pieces of parsley. Bring to boil and then simmer gently until meat falls from the bones.

When cool enough to handle cut meat into small pieces and add the meat to 1 cupful white bread crumbs, 1 cupful milk, 1 cupful of the chicken stock, strained, salt and pepper to taste and 1/2 teaspoon celery salt. Stir in 4 well-beaten eggs; pour into greased, shallow pan, place pan in pressure saucepan and cook 20 minutes at 10 lbs. pressure. To serve cut in squares and serve in mushroom gravy made from remainder of chicken stock and sauteed mushrooms.

Serve with hot potato salad, cranberry jelly or some of your red currant jelly, mixed green salad, pickles and celery hearts.

MOCK MINCEMEAT

1 1/2 cups seeded raisins
4 medium apples
1 orange

(grated rind and juice)

1 cup cider
two-thirds cup sugar

1/2 tsp. cinnamon

1/2 tsp. cloves

2 crushed graham crackers

Cut raisins. Peel, core and slice apples. Combine raisins, apples, orange rind, juice, and the cider. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Add sugar, spices, and cracker crumbs. Stir until well blended. Cool thoroughly before using as pie filling. For a 9-inch pie.

CREAM FILLED SQUASH

Cut 2 pepper squash in half and scrape out the seeds and stringy portion. Place in pressure cooker with large whole scrubbed potatoes. Cook potatoes and squash together 10 minutes at 10 lbs. pressure. Remove as soon as cooked. Pour the following creamed mixture into squash: To 1 cup cream sauce, add 1 cup of chopped cooked meat and season with salt, pepper and a dash of nutmeg.

INDIVIDUAL LIVER LOAVES

1 pound liver

1 1/2 cups mashed potato

2 tsps. chopped onion

1 chopped celery

1 tsp. salt

1 egg, beaten

1 cup milk

Parboil liver 5 minutes, and then at the same time to conserve electricity.

HANDS AT WORK... for ONTARIO

ONTARIO'S products are desired and purchased by people all over the world and the capacity to produce such goods largely determines the economic welfare of every man, woman and child within her borders. Because the sale of every article produced in Ontario brings valuable dollars into this Province, we are more assured of job security . . . and we and our children can have more of the better things in life. To produce such goods in sufficient quantities, skilled labour is vital. That is why every single one of us should be glad that war veterans are constantly being trained to provide the skilled hands so needed by Ontario industry. They receive ON THE JOB training under expert instructors in our Ontario factories.

This training, provided through the co-operation of the Department of Veterans' Affairs, the Federal Department of Labour and the Ontario Department of Education, starts veterans on the road to skilled craftsmanship. Taught to use their hands in such jobs as routing, etching, stripping, burnishing and finishing, they will eventually become photo engraving craftsmen. Because of the increasing importance of this trade, every effort of these newly-skilled workers helps to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and contributes to the welfare and happiness of all her citizens.

THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO)

Missing Boy Returns Home Was In Toronto

Bill Thompson, son of Mr. James Thompson of Millbrook, and formerly of Stirling, returned home safely on Saturday afternoon. The 16-year-old Millbrook youth, missing since an automobile accident Thursday morning, was walking along the Millbrook Road about 3:30 p.m., close to the spot where the accident had happened when he was reunited with his father, James Thompson, principal of the Millbrook High School.

He explained that his absence was partly because of the dazed condition in which the accident had left him and partly because of fear of the consequences of the accident with his father's car, which he had taken without permission "just for a little ride". He had spent most of his time away from home in Toronto, sleeping at a Salvation Army hostel, going to a show. Saturday morning, he decided to go home.

Except for a fracture of his hand and not serious face cuts, Thompson was not injured after his 54-hour stay away from home.

He was trudging along the Millbrook Road about a half-mile from where the car he was driving collided with that of Lloyd Byam when he was discovered by his father. Mr. Thompson was being driven back from Stirling, where he had gone early Saturday morning to enter the third day of search for his son. The family has relatives in that town and it was thought Bill might head there.

After the accident, the boy explained, "My head felt awfully funny and I didn't know exactly what to do." He admitted with a laugh that "I was pretty scared by what might happen after they saw the wreck the car was in."

He walked through the woods then until he hit the Port Hope Highway to Toronto and hitch-hiked his way into the city. He found lodgings for the night at the Salvation Army hostel there and had something to eat.

All day Friday, the youth spent in Toronto. He "just walked around the streets and looked at things" and went to a movie. He returned to the hostel for sleeping Friday night.

Saturday morning, he came to his decision to return home when he became aware of the intensive search his father was making for him—and the fact that the father had told newspapers to advise his son not to worry about the results of the collision.

Bill was on his way home when Mr. Thompson at last located him.

Annual Hastings Deanery Meeting Held At Marmora

The annual Hastings Deanery meeting of the W.A. was held last week at Marmora. There was a celebration of Holy Communion at St. Paul's at 10:30 a.m. at which 89 communed. The celebrant was Rural Dean J. Brownlie, with Rev. F. C. Beazer as Epistles and Rev. F. Downing as Gospeler.

The sermon was preached by the latter, who gave a resume of the missionary activities of the Church of England from the time of St. Columba onwards. Following the service delegates from the 10 W.A.'s represented adjourned to the Parish Hall for dinner served by St. Paul's Ladies' Guild. In the afternoon they reassembled at the church.

Mrs. Lindsay Tanner, of St. Thomas, Rawdon, Deanery Secretary, called the meeting to order. Miss Edna Tanner was organist. Opening prayers were taken by Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie.

He pointed out that it was the first occasion for the Deanery W.A. to convene at St. Paul's. The address of welcome by Mrs. J. M. Brownlie followed. The response was made by Mrs. A. S. McConnell, of Trenton.

Reports were given by the St. John's, Bancroft, W.A. and the Little Helpers of that parish. Mrs. J. DePencier Wright, Diocesan president, introduced the lady missionary, Miss Bessie Plant, of Nigeria, Africa. Miss Plant described the customs and attire of the natives to whom she has ministered for a number of years. She pointed out the marked difference between the habits of the inhabitants of Northern and Southern Nigeria and gave interesting details concerning the missionary compound.

The contrast between a Moslem and Christian funeral taking place the same day was strikingly brought out by the speaker. The power ceded to the secret god of the Nigerians—the Magiro was unbounded and even their government recognized this. The people pay their heathen missionaries.

Miss Plant pointed out the danger of letting anything take the place of our God.

Churches Report

Further reports were heard from St. Mark's, Bonarlaw; St. Paul's, Marmora; St. John's, Madoc; St. Paul's, Roslin, W.A. and Little Helpers; St. Thomas', Rawdon; St. John's W.A., Junior W.A. and Little Helpers, Stirling; Christ Church, Thomasburg; St. George's, Trenton, Senior W.A., Evening Branch, Girls' Branch, Junior W.A. and Little Helpers; St. James', Tweed, W.A., Junior W.A. and Little Helpers.

St. Paul's, Marmora, in their report referred to the organization of the Girls' Auxiliary and the prospective formation of the Junior W.A. and Little Helpers.

Mrs. J. DePencier Wright, Diocesan

president, congratulated the branches on their progress during the past year. She stressed the importance of each branch paying its pledge in full annually and the use of thankoffering boxes. She hoped for a further increase in membership of the organization which had grown from seven members to 73,000. She referred to the sending of boxes of food by the branches to the clergy in England and hoped the thoughtful act would be continued.

Miss Bessie Corier of Kingston gave the report of Dominion Board meeting held in Toronto recently.

Mrs. G. Reid, of Kingston, spoke on God's work, asking for more leaders and more branches. She also outlined the program of the camp held this past summer. Votes of thanks were given by Mrs. Kellar, of Bancroft, for the resolutions committee.

Bancroft Chosen

Invitations were received from the Trenton and Bancroft branches for the 1949 annual meeting. The latter branch, through Mrs. R. Wiggins, pointed out that the 60th anniversary of St. John's, Bancroft, will be held next June and as one of the outstanding events of their diamond jubilee year they desired to entertain the Deanery W.A. Trenton conceded the honor to Bancroft. Mrs. Lindsay Tanner declared her office of secretary-treasurer vacant. The Diocesan president moved her re-election which was carried unanimously.

Many delegates returned to the Parish Hall for tea before returning to their homes.

Clergy of the Deanery also assembled at the rectory in the afternoon for a regular Deanery session.

Sidney School Area News

The October meeting of the Sidney Township School Area Board was held in Eggleton's School on Monday evening, October 11th in order to try out the recently installed lighting, which will be of infinite value to the school and to the community.

The order of business was altered to hear Mr. D. Burrowes who was present to make inquiries regarding the purchase of land at Bayside. The Board decided to take no action on this matter at this time. The October accounts including teachers' and caretakers' salaries amounted to $4,759.31. These were ordered paid, ficit operation for all but four of its with the exception of a doctor bill fifty years, is to be taken over by the for a boy injured at school in June. GWR under terms of confederation.

Under the circumstances, the Board felt it was not its responsibility and ordered the bill returned to the doctor.

In order to supplement the supply of library and reference books at the schools the Board decided to subscribe to either South Hastings Circulating Library or the Departmental Travelling Library according to the preference of the teacher.

A request for an Employment Certificate was forwarded to the Township Attendance Officer for investigation and action.

A general policy was adopted after some discussion that in the event of a teacher wishing leave of absence for reasons other than those provided by the Schools' Act, permission would be granted at the discretion of the Board provided a suitable supply was obtained and paid by the teacher.

Notification of Education Week being held from Nov. 14th to Nov. 20th resulted in a motion to encourage the teachers in every way possible to plan some special activity, such as Open House, Parents' Night, Visitors' Day, displays, etc., for that week.

Plans to recognize in some way the school having the best attendance each month as determined by the Monthly Attendance Reports were discussed and left with the Supervising Principal to carry out whatever idea seemed best. September honours go to River Valley School where Mrs. R. Coombes teaches with a mark of 99.3 percent. Glen Miller School, whose teacher is Mrs. H. Park, was a close second with 99.21 percent. The average for the Area was 96.59 percent. This is a very creditable showing which reflects the co-operation of the parents in having their children attend regularly. The September enrolment figures showed 535 pupils or an increase of 19 pupils over the June enrolment for the Area.

Jas. A. Warren reported that on Saturday, September 25th he had attended a Home and School Conference at Brockville, and that from the reports and discussions there, he felt that there were distinct possibilities for such an organization in the Area as a whole or communities where it was desired. Promise of aid was offered by the Association to any group or groups wishing to form one.

The Newfoundland Railway, a device of the Canadian Government, is to be taken over by the

for a boy injured at school in June. GWR under terms of confederation.

Hello Homemakers: Every business has its busy season and homemaking is no exception. Many women find early fall a period in which a hundred and one duties require their attention. Canning is in full swing, the children are off to school again, which means renovating and renewing their wardrobes, the house requires freshening up or decorating and throughout the household it is a time for stock-taking. Club meetings and social activities begin to absorb the all too few "off-duty" hours. And there you are — at your busiest.

It is probably at this time you appreciate most the small but effective housekeeping pointers which make for efficiency and help you get results with minimum effort. So today we offer tips worth clipping for reminders at any time.

Take a Tip

1. To freshen your upholstered furniture, wipe with clean cloth moistened with cleaning fluid. Then, at once, rub briskly with dry clean cloth.

2. Painted floors and other painted surfaces will wear longer if you wax them lightly as soon as the paint is dry. One note of warning, however, before repainting wood remove every trace of wax. Use paint cleaner or turpentine.

3. If you have a new stove or refrigerator, keep the enamel surface new looking and sparkling by washing only with soap and water. Never use a cleaning powder or any abrasive. The soap and water treatment given frequently will prevent the surface from becoming scratched.

4. Dust your furniture with a moistened chamois, then rub with soft cheesecloth. Have chamois wrung out tightly so it will be just moist. Polish with dry cloth and there will be less frequent dusting.

5. In glueing together parts of a piece of furniture remove all the old glue first by scrubbing with hot water. Dry thoroughly. Heat the glue can in a tin set in a water. Apply evenly and clamp or tie the broken part in place and allow to dry for at least 48 hours.

6. Wrought iron lighting fixtures and stair rails should be given a protective coat of liquid wax. (Do not use wax on fireplace accessories, as it is inflammable). Rust stains can be removed before waxing by rubbing with kerosene, then scouring with steel wool.

7. If lacquered brass finish dulls, remove it with denatured alcohol (poison) and apply fresh coat of water-white transparent metal lacquer with a paint brush.

8. Hammered aluminum will be bright and shining if washed in mild soapy hot water. If stained, use a fine wool pad (impregnated with special soap) over cotton cloth and then rinse. Never use strong soap or alkaline scouring powders because they darken and discolor aluminum.

9. Plastic screens must be taken down and washed with garden hose or a brush and soapsuds. Dry thoroughly in a breeze before storing away.

10. The care of pressed wood walls which have a synthetic resin finish is quite simple. Regular dusting and occasional wiping with a damp chamois are all that is required.

11. Cement (concrete) floors in the basement are often damp. It makes it easier to care for them if you use a special paint or a wear-resistant surfacing. Mix 1 gallon of sodium silicate (water-glass) with 4 gallons of water. This makes enough solution to coat 1,000 square feet once. The floor should be clean and thoroughly dry. Apply solution with mop and let dry 24 hours. Scrub with clear water and let dry. Apply a second coat as above.

12. Windows may require putty to make them secure. If the glass is smeared while doing the job, take the putty marks off with household ammonia.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

FARM FIRE HAZARDS

Winter increases the chance of fire around farms, for oil lamps are needed more often in the home, storm-lanterns more frequently in barns and outbuildings. Only one out of every seven Canadian farms is served with electricity. Few, because of their location, can be aided by the effective fire-fighting services available to city and urban dwellers. Often lack of water and snow-bound roads would make firefighting apparatus useless in any case.

In a survey of fires on Canadian farms, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics estimates that 11 per cent of farm fires are caused by the use of inflammable liquids and a quarter arise from faulty heating or cooking equipment.

2,4-D MAY ADD TO WIREWORM DAMAGE

It is known that crop damage by the prairie grain wireworm is more pronounced and severe if either germination is delayed, or early growth of the young plant is retarded. Drought, sub-optimum temperatures, formalin seed treatments for smut control, and deep seeding are often instrumental in retarding germination and growth and in permitting increased wireworm damage.

In an article in the September issue of Scientific Agriculture, W. B. Fox, Dominion Entomological Laboratory, Saskatoon, Sask., describes a test made at the Soils and Research Laboratory, Swift Current, Sask., to observe the effect of 2, 4-D as a possible factor in increasing wireworm damage of wheat.

Two plots were sprayed with 2, 4-D on May 15, 1947, at the rate of one and two pounds of acid per acre respectively. A third plot between the two treated plots served as a check. On four successive dates, May 16, June 2, June 17 and July 3, wheat, in addition to other crops, was seeded across the three plots.

Casual observations on June 15 indicated that there was a greater degree of wireworm damage to the emerged wheat plants in the 2, 4-D treated plots than in the check plot. A more detailed examination revealed that the wheat kernels seeded on May 16 had disintegrated to such an extent that wireworm damage could not be determined. However, in the 2, 4-D treated plots seeded on June 2, the number of seeds which failed to germinate due to wireworm damage was three times as great as in the check plot seeded on the same date. Counts of the emerged plants on June 2 seedlings were not feasible owing to immaturity though the damage appeared to be as severe as the plots seeded on May 16. The crops seeded on June 17 and July 3 were examined at a later date, but had suffered very little damage, presumably because they were sown after the period of maximum wireworm activity.

In both rates of treatment by 2, 4-D the germination and growth of the wheat seeded on the two earlier dates were distinctly retarded in relation to the crop on the untreated plot. Associated with this delayed growth, about 30 per cent of the emerged plants were killed by wireworms while only 5 per cent were damaged in the check plot. Likewise the poorer germination and emergence in the treated plots appear to be caused to a considerable extent by wireworm damage. Apparently by 2, 4-D, by retarding the germination of the seeds and the growth of the plants, encouraged increased wireworm damage.

If this observation is substantiated by further evidence, concludes Mr. Fox, caution is indicated in applying herbicides shortly before or after seeding wireworm-infested fields; otherwise the losses caused by wireworms may nullify or exceed with the savings obtained in weed control.

WORLD WHEAT CROP

Prospects for the world wheat crop in 1948 indicate that the production may be around 6,250 million bushels, some four per cent above the 1935-39 average and seven per cent above the 1947 level, states the Bureau of Statistics in its September monthly review of the wheat situation. World rye production in 1948, estimated at 1,605 million bushels, is seven per cent below the pre-war average, but is eight per cent greater than the output in 1947.

Fortunately production in the usual deficit areas of Europe and Asia will be well over 1946 and 1947 levels and should be sufficient to help in relieving the chronic shortages which have prevailed in many areas since the end of the war.

Despite increased production in these areas, it is expected that import will remain high if rationing is to be lifted and the quality of bread improved. There is too, a wish on the part of these countries to build up their almost non-existent reserve stocks. In Asia, requirements for food grains will remain large, not only to supply bread, but to supplement the shortage of rice among the rice-consuming people.

To meet import demands for wheat during the crop year, it is expected that world exports may approach the 930 million bushels shipped in 1947-48. Of this amount it is probable that the four principal exporting countries — United States, Canada, Australia and Argentina will be able to supply at least 850 million bushels.

CONSTANTLY STUDY NEW FORAGE PLANTS

It is a striking fact that most of the cultivated forage crops in Canada are not native species that have been brought under cultivation, but have been introductions from other countries mainly in Europe and Asia. In fact the only two native cultivated grasses of any importance are Slender Wheat grass and Reed Canary grass. Such important and long-cultivated grasses and legumes as Timothy, Orchard grass, Brome grass, Crested Wheat grass Alfalfa, Red Clover, Alsike and White Clover were originally introduced to Canada. These species have been subjected to natural selection under our particular climatic conditions and to improvement work by the plant breeder yielding new varieties considerably different from the original material.

Because introduced species form the backbone of Canada's cultivated forage crops, the Division of Forage Plants, Ottawa, says John M. Armstrong has attached considerable importance to the maintenance of an Introduction Nursery where between 1,500 and 2,000 new introductions are grown and studied annually. Similar nurseries on a smaller scale are maintained at several Branch Farms and Stations. To sustain this flow of material contacts are maintained with the important Plant Breeding Stations throughout the world.

Naturally only a small fraction of the introductions received and tested in the Introduction Nursery show sufficient promise to warrant further trial and study by the plant breeder. In general, two points are kept in mind in screening out introductions. Firstly, material that can stand on its own merits and fill a useful niche somewhere under Canada's diversified soil and climatic conditions is considered. A recent introduction of this type is Ladino clover, which is proving useful in pasture mixtures where drought is not a limiting factor. Secondly, material is studied which, while not of value directly as a cultivated crop, possesses some particular character of value in a hybridization program. An example of this is Turkistan alfalfa which possesses high resistance to bacterial wilt and is being crossed with some of the hardy, adapted varieties which lack wilt resistance. Out of this breeding work carried on extensively at several Stations in Western Canada, it is hoped to develop new varieties combining the desired characters from both parents.

Good News

With the cost of living still climbing upwards, there is good news back-stroke in this nation's capital for those taxpayers who have been groaning about the load of taxes which they must carry since it is whispered loudly now that some relief in this respect is a relative certainty. When Finance Minister Abbott brought down his budget last Spring and allowed only $73,200,000 in tax cuts in face of a record surplus of $772,000,000, countless Canadians were extremely disappointed. However, at that time he estimated that this year's surplus would be about $489,000,000 but it is learned now that this estimate will be exceeded by an unusually large margin, having been covered at least 90% or more at the end of the past month, though it is still far away from the end of the fiscal year next March 31.

Under these circumstances and in face of forecasts that the Government is waiting for real big tax cuts to be made just prior to the next general election, the courts should make constitutional changes.

"The United States constitution is being re-written by the United States elections, it is whispered along Parliament Hill now that substantial tax relief is going to be provided in the next budget on account of the widespread demands, for such action, including recent clamor at the two national political gatherings here and the unexpectedly large surplus which has been obtained this year.

Confident of Success

There appears to be considerable confidence that the talks being held here between representatives of the Newfoundland delegation and the Canadian Government will end in success, though these talks are being held in camera as details are worked out to bring Newfoundland into confederation as soon as possible. It is evident that these discussions, expected to last several weeks at least, are going "well".

Significant Sidelight

It was only a comment but it has started something. When F. P. Varcoe, Deputy Minister of Justice pleaded a case on behalf of the Canadian Government before the Supreme Court of Canada here, he stated among other points that "the Fathers of Confederation had envisioned a more flexible constitutional instrument for Canada that the British North America Act had been permitted by the courts in past years", holding that Parliament rather than the courts should make constitutional changes.

In any event, it is understood here that Premier Drew is planning to get into the House and that he will contest a seat in time to be leading his

Supreme Court from time to time and our Privy Council has been doing pretty much the same thing for Canada as to our constitution," remarked Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret.

In view of the demands in Parliament in recent sessions for the abolition of appeals to the Privy Council in England and to make the Supreme Court here the last resort as well as the resolution passed at the national convention of the Liberal Party here favouring such a move, this comment has aroused much interesting speculation in the capital.

In Time for Session

The new leader of the Progressive Conservatives, Premier Drew of Ontario, is going to endeavour to be present as leader in the House of Commons of his party at the coming session, it is understood along Parliament Hill, though stories of his entry into the House through certain constituencies are discounted here. It is recognized in choosing a riding for this purpose bearing in mind that a defeat would be a possible disaster for him personally. The case of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen in the by-election in York South on Feb. 9, 1942, is recalled when the Conservative leader's career was practically ended as the result of his defeat by J. W. Noseworthy of the C.C.F.

In any event, it is understood here that Premier Drew is planning to get into the House and that he will contest a seat in time to be leading his

Mount PleasantW.M.S.

The October meeting of Mount Pleasant Woman's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Weaver with eighteen members four visitors and four Baby Band members, one of them a little visitor from Kingston, present.

Mrs. John Holmes gave the call to worship and prayer. Mrs. Ross Hoard played quiet music and accompanied the Thanksgiving hymns. All read a psalm of Thanksgiving and the president gave an appropriate poem. The Treasurer reported almost one hundred and twenty-nine dollars remitted for nine months. Roll call was answered with keyword "Thanksgiving".

Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. Cyrus Summers were appointed delegates to Plainfield Rally. Plans were made for a quilting later in the month. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Herb Smith and there will be a sale of homemade candy for the Baby Band. The offering was dedicated with the Doxology. Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave the "Highlights of the Presbyterial Executive" and stressed the need of assistance at this time to extend Christ's Kingdom in far distant lands.

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver gave a portion of the Study Book entitled "The Story Summarized". In the year 1892 eight Canadian missionaries sailed up the Yangtze River to this promised land "West of the Gorges". Mrs. Kilborn died soon after they reached Chengtu. The results of the first ten years were meagre but by 1912 ten stations were in operation with 90 out-stations. The total missionary force of the church and W.M.S. numbered one hundred. The next ten years was full of political unrest and then followed the great depression in Canada with decreased giving. In 1932, the sorely pressed Chinese church was ushered into eight year of devastating war. The Chinese church has suffered but there are many small groups with a deep religious experience and passionate devotion to Jesus Christ and these people are determined to help the missionaries build anew in China.

Mrs. Roy Thrasher presided over the Thanksgiving programme. She used the Worship Service in the September Monthly on the theme "The Word of Truth". Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. Milford Wrightman and Mrs. Ross Jeffs read the Bible lessons. Mrs. Blake Sharp read a poem based on the theme, "If You Want to be Happy on Thanksgiving Day, Give Something Away". Mrs. Frank Jeffs gave a paper on "Thanksgiving" and "Every day should be a day of Thanksgiving to our Heavenly Father". Mrs. Marguerite McMullen sang "A Prayer of Thanksgiving". Mrs. Cyrus read a poem entitled "The Mother's Lecture" which told her son of various things for which he could give thanks to the Lord. Mrs. Allan Bailey closed the service with a beautiful prayer of Thanksgiving.

The hostess served homemade candy.

ON BENEFIT TO FARMER

North Bay Nugget

Probably no single group has benefited more from the march of modern science than the farmers. Science has given them a multitude of labor-saving machines.

It has developed new varieties of crops capable of withstanding drought, frost and other elemental scourges. It has come forward with chemicals to feed their starving soils.

It has developed a great variety of weed and insect killers which have resulted in increased yields and therefore increased profits. It has created new strains of farm stock infinitely superior to the old standbys of a fading era.

Where agricultural science is leading only tomorrow will tell. But we may be certain of one fact—that no intelligent farmer who wishes to remain in the business can ignore its significance in farm economics.

ENGLISH JOURNEY

BY WALTER R. LEGGE

Article 12

I have not yet told anything about Blackpool, Lancashire, where we spent several days when we first arrived and again before we sailed.

Blackpool is one of the most popular resorts in England with a truly magnificent beach. It is essentially a place of amusement and has an enormous number of such things as penny arcades, and roller coasters.

It has one unique place of entertainment, The Tower, with theatre, aquarium, zoo, restaurants, and a truly magnificent ballroom.

A cousin, Raymond Legge is assistant curator paying special attention to the aquarium, as he is a specialist in knowledge of fish. The aquarium is quite an attraction with wonderful displays of unusual live fish both large and small. There are about 20 different kinds of marine fish, about the same number of varieties of fresh water fish, about 40 different kinds of tropical fish, and the total number is impossible to count. There is one sturgeon that has been there for over fifty years.

The zoo has a large collection of live animals and birds.

Blackpool is quite modern and has little to interest the antiquarian. We did, however, visit some interesting old places in the vicinity. Poulton-le-Fylde, only a few miles away has an interesting old church, and in the middle of the main street stands an old cross and the old public stocks.

Another day we took a bus to Manchester where there are many signs of bomb damage, and on to Styall which is a lovely old village situated in a beautiful section of Cheshire.

At Styall we were guests of an aunt of Mr. John Freeman, publisher of the Lakeshore News, of Pointe Claire.

At Blackpool we were guests of three aunts, (sisters of the late George Legge, of Granby), the eldest of whom celebrated her 90th birthday in July. They are all remarkably spry and accompanied us to Poulton-le-Fylde and on some other visits. Miss May Legge visited Granby forty years ago and has such vivid recollections of her trip that she was persuaded to write an account from memory which will shortly appear in The Leader-Mail.

We only spent two days in London on one of which I met Mr. Vere MacHutchin and was his guest for lunch at the Savoy.

In the lobby was Mr. Douglas Taylor, a past president of the Montreal them, and not from living in hotels and interviewing officials who naturally would try to paint a rosy picture.

Actually, I did not find anyone who had a good word to say for the government, but it must be remembered that such people did not vote for it in the first place.

One retired gentleman told me that it was difficult to find anyone who would admit that they voted for the Labour government, yet it was his opinion that they would be re-elected again.

The government was elected by the large mass of labourers who expected that all their troubles would be ended. They have not got what they expected, but they still think they are better off. Actually it is a debatable subject, for although their wages have been much augmented, the taxes and high cost of everything has probably eaten up the increase.

On the opposite side of the street before the war, stood the Morgue but that was completely demolished by a bomb.

One of the first things to catch the eye upon entering the office was a catalog of Miner goods which was printed in Granby at the Leader-Mail.

There is a very fine display of Miner products in the show cases.

Canadians visiting England find many of the signs and expressions strange to them. Here are a few: "No Waiting" for "No Parking"; "Halt" for "Stop" signs; "Left Luggage Room" over check rooms in station; "Enquiries" for "Information"; "Diversion" instead of "Detour".

One interesting sign in a tea room at Marlborough reads, "Persons bringing their own food will not be served" while there are many signs on vacant lots reading, "Tip No Rubbish" or "Tipping Rubbish Here is Forbidden".

An odd warning came over the loud speakers in Crewe Station, "Train now ready to depart. Join the train please". Probably our calls in Canada of "All Aboard" of "Up in Front Please, En Avant s'il vous Plait" would sound just as peculiar to strangers. In England, nearly all the bus drivers call out when the bus is ready to start, "Hold Tight", but it usually sounds like "All Tight".

Before closing this series of articles, I think I should make some comment on the English government and the way it is working, as from the large number of questions I have been asked, there is much interest in Canada in that subject.

The government in England today is socialism to a degree that few Canadians can realize, and it is gradually controlling everybody's life.

My observations were formed from travelling around England and staying with people and talking with so many things are under permits, that all initiative or aggressiveness is stifled. I encountered many instances of foolish obstructions being placed in the way of improvements.

One of the most remarkable pieces of legislation passed by the Labour government is the land act, which is designed to prevent anyone from making any profit on the sale of real estate. It will have the effect of drying up business in real estate.

To my mind, the most serious result of the experiment in socialism will be the deterioration of the moral fibre of the people. The English people always were the most conscientious people in the world, but all this socialism will breed a nation with less respect for the law. The United States found that the "noble experiment" in prohibition resulted in a serious let-down in respect for all laws, and the same thing is beginning to appear in England.

This may be seen in growth of black markets in a country where black markets formerly were an abomination. Gasoline restrictions have caused people to evade the regulations to the point where unusually severe punishment it meted out to violators, but it just seems to increase the attempts to get around the law. A recent news despatch reported that shoplifting cases in England in 1947 were up 40 per cent over 1946.

None of these may be serious in themselves, but it illustrates a trend which is the outcome of too many and too onerous regulations.

In regard to the future, there is the feeling that England will muddle through, and history would seem to bear that out, for there is a certain similarity between the government of Cromwell and that of the present labour government. Cromwell was out to suppress the churches because he thought they had too much power and money. The present government is out to suppress the so-called capitalists because it thinks they have too much power and money.

The imprint of the Cromwell regime is still to be seen in England, and the imprint of the labour government will remain for many years, but I still think that the English people have too much common sense to allow this government to stay in office for long.

In closing this series of articles, I would sum up by saying that to my mind, England is one of the most interesting and beautiful countries in the world to visit, but it is no place to live under present conditions. This seems to be the opinion of a great many in England, for everywhere I went, I found people anxious to move out to Canada, Australia, Africa, and the United States. Many of them are only deterred from going on account of the fact that they cannot take money out of the country. Too many feel that it is a hopeless situation, but most people still live in the expectation that conditions will improve.

Political Implication

If External Affairs Minister "Mike" Pearson is successful in the Algoma East election on Oct. 25, it may mark the start of a career which might make him a new strong contender to succeed Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, now 66, is new leader of the Liberal Party, according to a story heard behind the scenes in this capital where impartial observers say that Mr. Pearson, now 51, is heading for this post and that is one of the reasons he gave up the certainty of his top civil service job for the uncertainty of political life.

Restore Trade

An important step towards restoring two-way trade with the Allied-occupied Western German sector has been taken by the Canadian Government, which has sent orders to collectors of customs and excise across Canada indicating that henceforth most-favoured nation tariff rates will apply to that part of Germany. This is interpreted here as inferring that Canada's trade with the ex-enemy country is gradually being increased so that you may expect more goods in this country from Germany, though so far Canadian exports far exceed imports there. Close to half a million dollars worth of goods were imported from Western Germany in the first six months of this year.

"Our labours will command itself to the vast majority of the people of Newfoundland as well as to most of those who are already Canadians," said Acting Premier St. Laurent to the six-man Newfoundland group which met Cabinet ministers and officials for discussions here.

"Today there is no man in Canada with the possible exception of a Communist, who wants war," stressed Maj.-Gen. E. G. Weeks, Adjutant General, in address here.

"Competition confined to ex-service candidates, however meritorious their service with the forces, would not necessarily produce all the people best qualified to be civil servants," Sir Percival Waterfield, Britain's First Commissioner of the Civil Service Commission, told a meeting in this capital.

"We can begin today to lay the foundation of an organization which will be a powerful factor in the spread of education in Canada," said H. O. McCurry, president of the National Gallery in emphasizing the value of museums in this country.

"Although pensions are the most significant items financially in assistance to the blind, the most important long-range task is blindness prevention," Hon. Paul Martin, Health Minister, declared here.

Weekly Wind-Up

"Our pay structure must be reformed for the three services and is under consideration by the Minister of National Defence," hinted a top-ranking official of this Department.

Demand for U.S. dollars to travel for pleasure has fallen so much in recent weeks that the customs staff at border points is being reduced, it is suggested.

With the cost-of-living still climbing up, civil servants in this capital are showing signs of worrying about how to make the ends meet because a majority of them are not what one could call highly-paid workers, with this being the reason why they want a monthly living bonus since this would aid their efficiency and morale.

The famous "Red Dean", Very Rev. Hewless Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, is coming to Ottawa next month for a lecture here, though he was refused entry into the U.S. recently.

Rumours that the Progressive-Conservative national convention here which chose Premier Drew as leader was "packed" or "rigged" are ridiculed by those who know in this capital

The difficulty of getting young Canadians to train as tradesmen now was cited here at a meeting of the Vocational Training Advisory Council which was attended by educationalists from many sections of Canada with the three-day meeting hearing

Farm Premier Is Sworn In; Shuffle Posts

A Dixie farmer became Premier of Ontario Tuesday when Thomas Laird Kennedy was sworn in as the successor to George Alexander Drew.

In withdrawing from the government he formed in 1943, Mr. Drew left vacant the education portfolio. He was accompanied in his retirement by Provincial Secretary Roland Michener.

Three ministers were involved in the cabinet reorganization that followed.

Planning Minister Dana Porter relinquished that portfolio to become minister of education and provincial secretary.

Travel Minister Arthur Welsh gave up that post to become minister of planning and development.

Hon. Louis P. Cecile, minister without portfolio, succeeded Mr. Welsh as minister of travel and publicity.

The other cabinet ministers retained their previous portfolios. They are:

Provincial Treasurer and Mines Minister Leslie Frost; Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell; Hydro Minister Geo. Challies; Highways and Public Works Minister George Doucett; Municipal Affairs and Reform Institutions Minister George Dunbar; Labor Minister Charles Daley; Health Minister Russell Kelley; Welfare Minister William Goodfellow; Lands Minister Harold Scott and Chief Liquor Commissioner William Griesinger.

The oaths of office were read by Clerk of the Executive Council Allan Stewart and sworn to by the individual ministers in the presence of the Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. Ray Lawson.

The elevation of Mr. Kennedy to the premiership was a climax to the 30 years' service which the friendly and likeable 70-year farmer has given to the province. Elected to the legislature in 1919, he has been a member since that time with the exception of one brief spell between 1934-37 when the late Duncan Marshall represented Peel.

With his resignation, Mr. Drew will now devote himself to his new duties as national leader of the Progressive Conservative Party. One of his first tasks is to obtain a seat in the House of Commons in time for the next session.

Mr. Michener, who was defeated in the June election, plans to return to practising law with his old firm of Lang, Michener, Day and Cranston. At the same time he will assist Mr. Drew in the party's organizational work throughout the Dominion and prepare to contest a seat in the next federal election.

Mr. Kennedy retained the portfolio of Agriculture. He will remain as Premier until a convention is called to choose a new leader in the place of Mr. Drew. This is not expected to be held until after the next session.

Mr. Porter, a 47-year-old Toronto lawyer, is considered to be "dark horse" in the contest for the leadership.

Mr. Welsh, whose nickname is "Tiger," is 51 and lives in Sunderland. He established an enviable record in combat service during two wars.

Mr. Cecile, at 43, is the youngest member of the cabinet. He is a lawyer from Hawkesbury.

NOTICE

Dr. Ralph W. Vandervoort wishes to announce that during the existing power shortage his office hours will be changed to 9 a.m.-2 p.m. and 4-6 p.m. and Tuesday and Saturday evenings only, from 7.30 to 10 o'clock.

Orillia Editor Tells How Newspaper Is Published

The editor of the Orillia Packet and Times speaks for himself and a good many other publishers, we can presume, in the following article which appeared in a column in that newspaper recently:

"Some people have a rather strange idea regarding newspapers. They seem to think that the publishers issue them, but should have nothing to say as to what it put in the news columns, how it is written or on what page it should appear. When they send in a list of news they wish to direct all the details and the publishers should have no rules that in any way contrary to their ideas."

"They think the newspaper is just a public affair, and the publisher has no rights, though it is his money that is invested in the business. Every newspaper man runs up against people with these ideas. Copy sometimes comes into an office with a little note on the bottom to the effect that this news must not be altered, but must be printed as written. Others will demand that it have a big heading, that it is matter for the front page.

It may surprise some to know that there are columns of matter come in which is not printed at all but goes into the waste paper basket. Quite often items are reduced or changed to suit the ideas and rules of the newspaper. The ones in charge of the news department sometimes have rules which they wish to follow. They sometimes have ideas of what is news and what is not.

"If they published a whole lot of what is sent in, or put in everything wanted in a prominent position or an the front page, they would soon find their subscription list going down rapidly. There are many reasons for curtailing items or changing sentences or words in some other way. And there are many other things which enter into the choice of news for one page or another. In the city a morning paper seldom features news which has been given prominence before in another paper. Or the evening paper will not feature what the morning paper does.

"It may so happen that they may not use the news at all. Columns of dispatches reach a daily paper in a day which are not printed or are severely cut down. The editor may even cut down or cut out reports written by his own staff. This is what editors are for. They are trained for this job.

"In weekly papers, too, editors use their discretion and have rules. Sometimes items come in which are written like news in a school paper. All publishers and editors are anxious to give a good news coverage, and to have the news which will create a good news circulation. They are not anxious to disturb the feelings of those from whom some news comes. But a paper without rules soon fades away.

Persons, too, who make demands or who telephone and give the girl in the office a piece of their mind do not accomplish anything. Newspaper people get accustomed to that. And when it is done, too often the person who does it soon gets little consideration. The day will come when their items will be refused. A case comes to mind where a person of more or less prominence never had his name in the paper where he lived for the soon fades away.

last 15 years of his life, not even when he died.

"Papers appreciate those who send news or tell them of good items. All good papers have a host of friends who do this. These people are looked on with kindly feelings. But, nevertheless, how the item is written, or where it appears in the paper, or whether it goes in or not is a matter for the one in charge of that department. The persons who go to some other member of the staff and try to get round the news man do not gain much. They may succeed once or twice but the news man does not change his rules.

"A newspaper cannot boom every organization or movement or scheme. They may be important to someone, but it may not be to the general public or publisher. Sometimes a report of a meeting is like the minutes which the secretary keeps as a record. All this is not interesting to the public. When the opening and closing exercises are the same every meeting it is then not news. Good newspapers do not change their rules every time a new fad comes along. Most of these ideas are short lived, and are just as well not followed. A newspaperman has a real satisfaction and joy when he knows each week that his paper is a welcome visitor in the home of his community and that almost all of his readers appreciate his efforts to give the news in a readable and clean way. When the paper is received in a kindly way in the big homes and in the little homes where often are his most sincere friends, he has joy in his heart and is glad. He forgets the odd one who shows annoyance and makes demands."

Red Cross Holds First Meeting of The New Season

The first meeting of the new season was held on Friday, October 8th in the Women's Rest Room. It was decided, on account of the fuel situation and the power interruptions, to hold regular meetings only on the first Friday of each month and to have the sewing and the knitting done at home. Quotas were ordered for girls' sweaters in 8-year size, and for panty dresses in 6-year size. It is hoped that materials will be ready for the first Friday in November. If those interested will call at the Hall or the Rest Room for these materials, it will save the convenors many steps.

As Chairman of Disaster and Emergency Relief in case of local need, Mr. David Duffin was appointed.

Mrs. E. Ketcheson was appointed as convenor of the Loan Cupboard Committee, replacing Mrs. E. Gorman.

Since that change has been necessitated, it is thought wise to repeat the regulations concerning the Loan Cupboard. Please clip and keep for reference:

1. Persons wishing to borrow articles may do so by contacting their own doctor, who is provided with keys. Borrowers will sign in the presence of the doctor in the register found in the room.

2. Persons in the Stirling Branch district, that is, in the district which is canvassed each year by the Stirling Branch, may borrow articles free of charge. In the case of the hospital bed, persons in the Stirling Branch District may use free for four weeks and may continue to use free, if there have been no other calls for same. If other borrowers are waiting, the original borrower may choose either to give up the bed or to pay the usual rental of 50 cents per week.

3. Persons outside the Stirling Branch District will be charged 50 cents per week for the bed, and a small fee for other articles.

4. Borrowers must provide means of transportation for the bed, since in most cases its use will be free.

5. Borrowers must use the rubber mattress cover and are requested to wash the mattress cover before returning.

6. Articles requiring sterilization before being returned, should be brought for inspection to Mrs. E. Ketcheson, convenor of the Loan Cupboard Committee.

7. Very badly damaged articles must be replaced.

The following articles are available: Hospital Bed with catch spring and mattress; rubber draw sheet; dunlopillo (rubber ring cushion); ice collar; enamel pitcher; enamel wash basin; waste pall; bed tray; male urinal; bed pan; enema outfit; hypodermic syringe; graduated medicine glass and dropper; thermometer; kidney basin; glass douche nozzle.

Crutches, wheel chair, and comode chair are not in the Loan Cupboard, but can be obtained for borrowers on short notice.

Dominion Balance Of Trade with U.S. Improved Says Bank of Montreal

Montreal, Oct. 23.— "Canada's current trading position with the United States underlines the extent to which vigorous demand in that country has, thus far, more than counterbalanced the contraction of our markets elsewhere". The Bank of Montreal makes this observation in its latest Business Review which, issued today, is devoted chiefly to a comparative study of Canada's exports and imports in the first eight months of 1947 and 1948.

"The substantial improvement in the Dominion's adverse balance of trade with the United States," the bank says, "has achieved mainly by a 35 per cent increase in exports to that country, and has been dependent to much lesser extent on reduction of imports which are down by only 10 per cent in the eight months' comparison."

Principal items listed as contributing to the higher export values have been — in order of importance — lumber, newsprint, wood pulp and pulpwood, base metals, agricultural implements and cattle.

"On the import side, restrictions have sharply curtailed receipts of fibres and textiles, fresh fruits and vegetables, automobiles, household electrical appliances and luxury articles," the review continues. "On the other hand, imports of an essential nature such as coal, petroleum and heavy machinery have been in significantly higher figures, reflecting both price factors and the effects of high levels of industrial activity and new capital expansion in this country.

Steep Increase in Imports From U.K.

The outstanding feature of Canada's trade with the United Kingdom in the period under review has been a 65 per cent increase, by value, in the movement of British goods to this country, the bank comments. While showing little change in dollar aggregate Canadian exports to Britain have altered significantly higher figures for meats and base metals having offset reduced shipments of wheat tobacco, oats, apples and potatoes.

Referring to recent discussions between Britain's chancellor of the exchequer and ministers of the Canadian government, the B of M says that while little is known of the outcome of these conversations, it is clear that efforts will be made to narrow the gap in trade, both by expanding British exports to Canada and by adjusting the United Kingdom's import programs. The review adds that it is generally considered likely that the Dominion government will soon release to the United Kingdom the unexpended balance of the 1946 loan.

In the light of these trends, the bank says that, while no official statement has been made about Canada's reserves of gold and U.S. dollars since holdings of $742 millions were announced as at June 23, it is a "reasonable supposition" that some further improvement has taken place.

"This supposition", it continues, "is strengthened by the Government's announcement on October 8 that the unused portion of $160 millions of the loan of $300 millions from the United States Export-Import Bank, arranged late last year, has been cancelled on Canada's initiative. The $140 millions previously drawn down has, it will be recalled, been repaid out of the proceeds of borrowing from private sources."

River Valley Study Group

Fourteen members and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Ernest Carr on the afternoon of October 19, for the monthly meeting of the R.V.S.G.

Due to the illness of the President, Mrs. Roy Bush, the vice-president, Mrs. Ralph Utman, very capably took charge of the meeting. The opening hymn, "We Have Heard the Joyful Sound", was sung after which Mrs. Utman led in prayer.

In the business period it was decided to hold the November meeting at the home of Mrs. Ross Bush with Mrs. George Heasman as assistant hostess. Mrs. Edward Kent kindly volunteered to prepare the second chapter of the Study Book.

The programme opened with the singing of the hymn "What a Friend We Have in Jesus". The theme of the programme was "Word of Truth". The scriptures were read by Mrs. Kent, Mrs. R. Irvine and Mrs. S. Irvine. Mrs. Ernest Carr presented the first chapter of the Study Book, "West of the Gorges" which told of the wonderful Christian work of Margaret Li in China.

After the benediction a bountiful pot-luck lunch was served.

Junior Farmer Get-Together At Tweed

The annual Hastings County Junior Farmer Get-together which has been so popular for the past few years is being held at the Parish Hall, Tweed, on Friday, October 29th, commencing at 8 p.m.

The purpose of this Get-together is to give recognition to all the Juniors in the County who have taken part in various phases of Junior Farmer and Club Work throughout the year.

The guest speaker for the occasion is Mr. Harry K. Hutton, Director of Extension for Queen's University, Kingston. Arrangements are being made to have a number of musical selections.

All parents and friends are invited to attend.

There will be a small admission to cover rental of the hall and other incidental expenses.

Safety First To Prevent Fire

Here's a safety tip when putting furnace or stove pipes in position.

After fitting the lengths securely together, take a piece of white chalk and make a circle around the place where the slightly expanded ends of each length fit over the previous section. If the lengths of pipe start pulling away from each other, the chalk mark will show this movement.

If this small safety tip is adopted, a casual glance at the pipes at any time will show whether the sections are parting company, or whether all is "safe and sure".

There is danger in poorly fitting stove or furnace pipes. Escaping coal gas is probable; a disastrous fire may even be in the making.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

CANADIAN PLOWMEN TO GO TO BRITAIN

Two Canadian tractor plowmen, winners in the Esso Champions tractor class at the International Plowing Match held at Lindsay, will have an all-expense-paid trip to Britain this January, as guests of Imperial Oil Ltd. The champion plowmen are Rhys Bachar, of Hagersville, and Robert Timbers, of Stouffville. Rhys Bachar, who came first, also received a gold medal while Fred Timbers, as runner-up was presented with a silver medal.

Accompanying the tractor men will be Elliott Moses, of Oshweken, as coach-manager, and Alvin Mark, of Cameron, and W. McFaddin, of Millbank, winners of the Trans-Atlantic class for horse-drawn jointer plows, sponsored by Salada Tea Company Ltd. The five men will tour the British Isles for six weeks, competing in plowing matches and observing British methods of agriculture.

Rhys Bachar, 28, was born in Fisherville, Ont., but now runs a 72-acre mixed farm near Hagersville. He has won two second prizes and one first prize in previous competitions. He is married and his wife is the former Jean Gloyd, of Seikirk.

Robert Timbers, 21, is a son of Winfred Timbers and a nephew of Fred Timbers, one of the 1946 Esso Champions. This is the fourth international match for "Bob" and at the other competitions he carried away several first and second prizes. He owns an 100-acre mixed farm and has about a dozen beef cattle. He is married to the former Leatrice Nicholson and they have an eight months old daughter.

Elliott Moses is a director of the Ontario Plowmen's Association. He is a member of the Delaware Tribe of the Six Nations Indians and has been a farmer all his life. He owns a 450-acre farm. During World War I he served with the Canadian Army. His wife is the former Ethel Styles and they have seven children. The youngest child, John Styles Moses, 15, is a violinist and last year won a prize at the Toronto Music Festival.

The 1948 Esso Champions class was open to the "Esso Champions Special" winners who competed in Ontario Plowmen's Association branch matches in Ontario, and to plowmen from other provinces. This year there were 27 entrants in the final match at Lindsay, eight more than last year.

This year's plowing match was one of the most outstanding that has ever been held. The plowing generally was of an exceptionally high calibre and on the last day of the match a record attendance was reached, with over 40,000 people turning out. One of the attractions of the 1948 match was the team from Northern Ireland, two tractor plowmen and one horse plowman, who were all prize winners. This was the first time that a team from the British Isles has ever plowed in Canada.

RATS DESTROY FOOD AND MENACE HEALTH

Among the things that nobody knows, is how many rats there are in the world. But it has often been assumed that the number is at least equal to the human population. Canada has a population of 13 million, which means there are probably a similar number of these rodents acting as destroyers of food and property, and presenting a serious problem to public health authorities across the Dominion.

The common brown or Norway rat, in addition to being a prolific breeder probably eats, as an adult, about an ounce of food a day. While it is true that rats each much that is unfit for human use, they also eat practically anything used as food by human beings and by livestock—except hay. They also contaminate food and make it unfit for human consumption.

with consequent loss to producers. The extermination of rats is complicated by the fact that most of the suitable poison baits used in their destruction are also injurious to other animals and to humans. If reasonable precautions are observed, however, poison baits can be used to good effect.

One of the best methods of avoiding damage from rats is to make buildings rats-proof. Concrete is one of the best materials as foundations and around spaces where drain and other pipes lead out of a building. Doors should be bound at their base with sheetmetal, and ventilators and basement windows should be covered with wire-netting.

Traps are effective if there are not many rats and if in a house where the use of poison bait would be undesirable. It is a good plan to cover the traps with a piece of cheesecloth or scatter sawdust around as this helps to make them less obvious.

LITTLE MAN'S LOANS NOW BIG BUSINESS

Since 1939, the year when all Canadian provinces completed their legislation enabling credit unions to incorporate, the number of these people's banks trebled, membership has increased fivefold and assets tenfold. By last year, there were 2,546 credit unions in Canada with 775,129 members and $220.5 millions in assets, according to a Dominion Department of Agriculture publication, entitled "Credit Unions in Canada, 1947".

J. E. O'Meara, author of this report says that the increase in these three items was remarkably steady even during the war when credit union expansion in other countries declined.

Since war's end, Canadian progress and growth in this form of co-operative saving and lending has continued slowly but steadily.

Tucked away in these people's banks are $34,812,341 in shares and additional savings on deposit of $174,956,932. From these assets credit union members collectively loaned one another $80,210,032 last year.

Yet this tremendous business is made up of small groups averaging only 323 members whose savings invested in this form of co-operative average $269.46.

CO-OP BUSINESS HITS NEW HIGHS

Nearly one-third of the main Canadian farm products sold commercially are marketed by co-operatives. The value of this co-operatively marketed farm produce last year hit a new high of more than half a million dollars, with total 1947 business reported by co-operatives to the Dominion Department of Agriculture of $712,583,000, another record figure.

According to J. E. O'Meara of the Department's Economics Division, Ottawa, the 2,095 co-operatives reporting their 1947 business had a membership totalling 982,990. But as Mr. O'Meara points out in a Department publication, entitled "Co-operation in Canada 1947", there is duplication in this membership figure such as that caused by some farmers marketing milk through one organization, eggs through another.

In the year 1946-47, co-operative purchases of supplies and goods for members topped the hundred million dollar mark for the first time at the figure of $127,00,488. Of this business, 40 per cent was done through wholesale co-operative organizations, of which each province has at least one.

Since war's end, Canadian progress

Fishermen's co-operatives market-which included bait and gear as well as groceries and clothing.

FIRST NINE MONTHS OF POULTRY EXPORTS

With the last quarter of the year yet to go, Canadian poultry exports for the first nine months of 1947 have topped those of any full year in the past. Last year's poultry exports totalled 27 million pounds; the peak year of 1944 saw the export of 30 million pounds; from January 1 to September 30 of this year, the figure stands at 34 million pounds.

Of this, 21 millions have been exported alive to the United States; 11 millions have gone as dressed poultry to the U.S.; about three-quarters of a million pounds of dressed poultry have gone to other ports, principally to British West Indies and Newfoundland, with smaller quantities to Alaska, St. Pierre and Miquelon, and—earlier in the year—to Belgium and Switzerland.

Of the live poultry exports, Ontario has been the source of about three-quarters of the shipments. Manitoba has shipped more dressed poultry than any other province.

CANADIAN HOLSTEIN SETS NEW WORLD RECORD

A purbred Canadian Holstein named Roeland Rag Apple Lilly owned by John W. Greenwood, Maple, Ont., has just established a new World record for butterfat production in the two-year-old class over all breeds on twice-a-day milking. Although she made her record as a junior two-year-old "Lilly's" production of 827 lbs. fat from 18,593 lbs milk, average test 4.45 percent butterfat beats any previous record made by either a senior or junior two-year-old.

This record-breaking production ed more than 10 million dollars worth of fish, and bought a million and a half dollars worth of consumer goods, tends to confirm the old adage that great daughters have great mothers for the dam of "Lilly" is an outstanding producer in her own right. She is Geraldine Pabst Alcarra whose 365 day record of 866 lbs. fat from 21,566 lbs. milk made as a five-year-old stands for all time in Canada in the mature class. In the same lactation she produced in 365 days 923 lbs. fat from 23,626 lbs. milk. "Lilly" also has a full sister, Rosland Rag Apple Daisy, whose junior two-year-old record of 762 lbs. fat from 17,211 milk is the fourth highest ever made in Canada in its class.

The former World Champion junior two-year-old was the Canadian Holstein Bonnie Segis Keyes owned by Leslie Thompson, Woodstock, who made her record of 777 lbs. fat from 20,479 lbs. milk in 1941. The World Champion senior two-year-old is O.H.H. Bonheur Darkness owned by The Ontario Hospital, Hamilton, who in 1946 produced 820 lbs fat from 19,195 lbs milk.

DISMANTLING BRIDGE

Dismantling of the steel bridge over the river at Stoco removes the last vestiges of the old Canadian National Railway line from Tweed to Napaneen. The bridge was originally constructed by the old Bay of Quinte Railway Company, which later disposed of its interests to the Canadian National. Three men are engaged in the two month job, presently building cribwork to facilitate the removal of the girders.

A number of cheese factories in this district have closed down for the 1948 season. There is a general feeling that the smaller cheese factories will be amalgamating with the larger ones thus giving better service to the patrons. Already a number have engaged their makers for 1949.

Mr. Jas. Donnan has been re-engaged for the Beulah Factory and Mr. Burton Wallace for West Huntingdon. Both of these gentlemen are exceptionally good cheese makers and their many friends are pleased to know that they will be with us for another year.

Mrs. W. J. Fitchett, Miss Bessie Hollinger and Sarah Wilson, Mr. H. R. Burke and Arthur Wilson attended the Madoc Township Sunday School Convention on Friday. Mrs. Fitchett, Mr. Burke and A. Wilson assisted with the programme.

Hello Homemakers! Hallowe'en—the night of frolic and fun. Mention it to Dad and he will reminisce for hours telling of his pranks in bygone days. (It took several neighbours to get the buggy off the shed roof and the big gate out of the tree). Junior will be on the loose, too, if you don't plan something for his crowd, and remember he is just a chip off the old block. It would be much cheaper to roll him indoors than to pay for damage downtown.

It's best to prepare favorite inexpensive casual dishes which the young crowd enjoys. Hamburgers, weiners and rolls, coleslaw in orange shells, baked beans in custard cups, pickles, gingerbread or doughnuts and malted milk shakes, or sweet apple cider are good suggestions.

If it's a buffet supper for teenagers, a hot casserole of creamed chicken or salmon, a Hallowe'en salad relish tray of carrot curls, celery, pickles, pumpkin tarts and hot coffee will set everybody singing your praises.

A pumpkins Jack O'Lantern with lighted candles within and a frill of black crepe paper as a dolly makes an easy centre. Or you may create a harvest scene on the buffet if you have an assortment of squash, gourds, egg plant, apples and autumn leaves.

The old favourite pastime of bobbing for apples in a tub of water or trying to bite an elusive one swinging in a doorway, is a good game. Toast marshmallows or pop corn while the charades are in progress.

HALLOWEEN FRUIT CUP
Cut the top of orange like pumpkin shell in picker fashion; remove the pulp and cut into small pieces, reserving the juice. Combine orange with diced bananas, pieces of melon and sprinkle with fine sugar. Pile into orange shells and top with whipped cream.

SPICED CIDER
Stir 4 tbsps. brown sugar, 6 cloves, stick of cinnamon and 3 all-spice into two quarts of sweet cider. Heat then cool immediately and strain out the spice. Serve with warmed doughnuts.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. J. C. says: Wax is loose around jars. What has caused this to happen?

Answer: Jam may have been stored in warm place. Or the jam jars may have been too hot when wax was put on. You may scrape off the surface; put on more melted paraffin and store in a cool place.

Mrs. T. B. asks:

CHICKEN BARBECUE SAUCE

2 green peppers, 1 red pepper, 4 small onions, 1 clove garlic, 1 cap salad oil, 4 cups tomatoes, 1 can tomato paste, 1 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. paprika, 1/2 tsp. majoram, 1/2 tsp. cleary salt.

Trim the pepper, onions and garlic. Chop fine. Heat salad oil and cook in it the peppers, onions, and garlic until brown; then add remaining ingredients. Cook about 3 mins.

Mrs. J. T. asks: Why do baked apples burst?

Answer: The oven should not be too hot—350 degrees for about 35 minutes. Variety makes a difference too. Use spies, kings, greenings and Wolfe.

Mrs. B. K. suggests: baking our gingerbread recipe in muffin tins to conserve electricity. Instead of 45 minutes at 375 degrees, bake 25 minutes at 375 degrees.

Mrs. T. L. asks: How to keep mercury light?

Answer: Beat 2 egg white until frothy; add 1/2 tsp. cream of tartar and beat until whites stand up in a point as you lift out the beater. Gradually fold and sprinkle in two tbsps. of fine sugar.

MUNICIPALITIES URGE TAX CHANGE

Ontario municipalities in session at Toronto urged the Provincial Government to set up a commission on provincial-municipal relations.

Four municipal organizations, meeting Cabinet Ministers at a Government-sponsored conference, also made 13 specific financial suggestions.

Main Proposals

The main recommendations:

1. Municipalities should be relieved of all hospital, child welfare and relief costs.

2. Municipalities should get a "more adequate" share of revenue from gasoline tax and automobile license fees.

3. Municipalities should be relieved of all justice administration costs.

4. The Assessment Act should be reviewed "to determine what properties now exempt should be properly liable for municipal taxation".

The brief was prepared by the Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves, Ontario Municipal Association, Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities and North Western Ontario Municipal Association. It was presented by Reeve Ann Shipley, of Teck Township.

In urging establishing of a provincial-municipal "committee or commission" the organizations said they understand such a move was forecast last year in the Speech from the Throne at the opening of the Legislature.

The commission, said the brief, should survey "the whole field of provincial-municipal relationships" and recommend changes in "functions and finances".

"Pending the final conclusions of such a body, it is further recommended that it be instructed to make interim financial adjustments as it may deem expedient to relieve the municipalities of the acute financial difficulties with which they are now confronted under the existing provincial-municipal arrangements."

Urge More Equitable Tax

The municipal representatives said in a preamble that their most important object is "to see that taxes on owners of homes and real property should be placed on an equitable basis".

In the years 1944-46, Ontario municipalities had spent $25,056,220 on social services" and, therefore, should not be municipal responsibilities.

645 Gals. Water

Required at Power Dam to Keep

100-watt Lamp Burning 1 Hour

It takes 645 gallons of storage water at a power dam to keep a 100-watt lamp burning for one hour, a Hydro official said today. How many persons understand that basic fact in the economy of electricity?

They are so accustomed to leaving these 100-watt lamps burn without concern about power sources, that they never think of this power waste in terms of water waste. And it is the water tumbling over power dams and through the generating machinery that provides the energy which keeps the wheels of factories turning, he said.

Some people may shrug their shoulders at a mere 645 gallons, but there are approximately 900,000 Hydro consumers in Ontario. If each of them left one of those bulbs burning needlessly for one hour out of the 24, the amount of water wasted would be a prodigious $86,000,000 gallons, or as much water as falls over Niagara Falls in 45 seconds.

Let the toaster burn 15 idle minutes and the housewife wastes about 1,000 gallons of water that should be used and is sorely needed in driving the machines that create electricity. That is a simple translation of power waste into terms every member of the household can understand.

If you have an electric tea kettle and let it boil 10 minutes longer than necessary, the water waste is 1,500 gallons.

RECENT PURCHASER OF TRENTON PAPER SERIOUSLY HURT

Oshawa, Oct. 13—J. Nolan Sissons, formerly general manager of the Timmins Daily Press, was injured Tuesday night when an automobile he was driving struck a concrete abutment at the Ajax clover leaf on Highway 2A, about 10 miles west of here. Hospital officials said both legs were fractured, one above the knee and one below. He also suffered minor cuts and bruises. Mr. Sissons last week purchased the Courier-Advocate, a weekly newspaper at Teck Township.

In urging establishing of a provincial-municipal "committee or commission" the organizations said they understand such a move was forecast last year in the Speech from the Throne at the opening of the Legislature.

The commission, said the brief, should survey "the whole field of provincial-municipal relationships" and recommend changes in "functions and finances".

"Pending the final conclusions of such a body, it is further recommended that it be instructed to make interim financial adjustments as it may deem expedient to relieve the municipalities of the acute financial difficulties with which they are now confronted under the existing provincial-municipal arrangements."

Dr. A. K. Mighton of Oshawa said his condition was "fairly good".

RACHEL LANGEVIN, BOGART SUFFERS SEVERE BURNS

Rachel Langevin, 62, of Bogart, near Tweed, is in serious condition in Belleville General Hospital as result of severe burns suffered early Tuesday morning at the home of her brother, Leo Langevin.

At seven-thirty this morning Mr. Langevin heard a noise in his sister's room and thought she was getting up.

When she failed to emerge from her room he investigated and found Miss Langevin's clothing, and also the bed clothing afire.

Langevin beat out the flames on his sister's clothing and summoned medical aid. Dr. F. J. McCue attended and ordered the woman to Belleville hospital. The house was saved from destruction by prompt work on the part of Langevin.

PAY ALL PRIZES

Directors of Norwood Fair will pay all prize monies to the winning exhibitors. G. A. Brethen, president, has announced. "We are able to do this by the generous support of our many friends in the district, for which we are grateful." It is remembered that the fair day was spoiled by rain. Directors are confident they would have 15,000 to 20,000 people. They are keeping faith with the exhibitors who may have been wondering since Thanksgiving Day about the state of the fair's exchequer.

ONTARIO PROG. CONS. RALLY ON SATURDAY

Date for the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association Convention to pick a successor to George Drew as provincial leader will be decided on Saturday next, when delegates rally at the Royal York.

Attorney General Leslie Blackwell has announced himself candidate. Highways Minister George Doucet and Provincial Secretary Dana Porter are also mentioned as probable candidates. The new leader would eventually take over the premiership from Premier T. L. Kennedy.

The Association's annual meeting, scheduled for mid-November has been postponed pending a decision on the convention.

CAMPAIGNS NOW UNDERWAY FOR ELIMINATION OF COMMON BARBERRY AND BUCKTHORN

The Brant County Barberry eradication programme has demonstrated very conclusively that the Common Barberry shrub is no friend of the farmer.

Leslie Osborne, St. George, reeve of South Dumfries township, states that for forty years, regardless of variety or seed used, the kind and amount of fertilizer or the type of crop year, he had never been able to harvest more than 1,000 bushels of poor quality grain. As a result of the County Barberry campaign a number of barberry shrubs were found near the farm and destroyed. This year 3,000 bushels of good quality grain were harvested.

According to information received from the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, ten counties in Ontario now have active campaigns in progress for the elimination of Common Barberry and the European Buckthorn, both of which can cause severe reduction in grain crops by increasing stem rust infection in the case of Barberry and leaf rust infection in the case of Buckthorn.

Both shrubs were killed by the use of a chemical with a chlorate base. Salt and kerosene oil are also sometimes used.

Barberry and Buckthorn shrubs should be located now and plans made to have them destroyed. A pamphlet showing both shrubs in colour along with directions for eradication may be secured from any Agricultural Representative's office or the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch, Department of Agriculture, Toronto, Ontario.

Continued Improvement

The Canadian Government's move in lifting the bans on certain produce imports by allowing some into Canada previously prohibited or by easing restrictions on quota limitations for the fourth quarter of this year is interpreted in this capital as perhaps only the beginning of official efforts to avert spectacular price boosts or shortages this winter of imported items in Canada and more such moves are now foreseen here as this country's foreign exchange reserves improve. It is known backstage here that officialdom is conscious of considerable dislike among the masses of some features of the so-called "austerity" program and it will be no surprise if this lifting of import restrictions on fresh fruits and vegetables is followed by other strategic steps.

They Don't Like It

The case of the four French "political refugees" who are charged with being collaborators with the enemy by the Government of France and who are now living in Quebec Province is really a "hot" subject along Parliament Hill. There are a lot of people here who do not like to see the case closed until all the facts have been made public in detail so that misunderstanding may be avoided, though it is said here that the French Government had not requested the return of the men in any official manner save by "suggestion" that the men should go back to France to defend their honor of the charges. What is known here is the four men all living in Quebec now, managed to enter this country by the passing of an Order-in-Council in the case of three of them and the fourth was permitted entry under the terms of another order extending immigration privileges to citizens of France. But the significant point is that all have police records in France as the result of alleged collaboration with the Nazi-dominated Vichy Government, though Canada admitted them as "political refugees" and as such are said not to be extraditable, it is said.

Greatest Potential

"A very important fact which concerns us the most in these negotiations, as Newfoundland enters confederation, is that Canada will have the greatest potential of fishing industries in the world," said here Roy Gushue, adviser to the Fisheries Board of Newfoundland, adding that the latter's entry would raise interest to a newspaper office every week national problems. He remarked that failure of the fishing industry would be a calamity to Newfoundlanders.

Disabled Ex-Servicemen

Of about 90,000 Second World War pensioners nearly one-third have some form of residual disability which prevents them from resuming their former type of employment, C. H. Parliament Director General of Rehabilitation, Department of Veteran's Affairs of Canada, revealed here.

Mr. Parliament disclosed that close co-operation with the Labor Department has enabled many Canadian disabled ex-servicemen to find suitable employment. But he also added that more than 4,000 veterans are still in hospital in Canada and of this number about 400 are undergoing some form of training for ultimate occupation in civil life.

We Are Responsible

A top official of one of Canada's major railways, J. S. Macdonald told a meeting in this capital that a recent survey has shown that Canadians and not tourists from other countries are responsible for the depletion of game stocks. He asked that steps be taken by the Canadian authorities to increase the number and the calibre of game enforcement officers in this country.

Against Communism

"Those people don't want Communism," said Labor Minister Mitchell here indicating that Displaced Persons arriving in Canada were a bulwark against Communism. "They ran away from it."

Mr. Mitchell disclosed that of the 600,000 persons in the European camps, this country is taking 100,000 and to date 40,000 have landed in Canada, with the total being boosted to 65,000 when their families arrive. He also said arrivals of D.P.'s would be suspended until the Spring. "There's no use landing those people here in the Winter months" he emphasized.

Not Worried

According to W.T. Munro, head of a British woollen mission touring Canada at present, the trade is not "worried" about new synthetic materials now being introduced, though he stressed that they are "keeping their eyes on them". He said in Ottawa that he had seen "beautiful fabrics" made from synthetics but they did not have the qualities of wool to keep out damp or cold weather.

Hollywood and Ottawa

Ottawa has been invaded by representatives of major Hollywood producers who are contemplating expanding production of films on Canadian subjects, including feature-length pictures. Producer Sam Marx of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has been here for sometime and this has followed a visit by officials of 20th Century-Fox Corp. with both studios said to be arranging production of a film on the RCMP. Significantly, J. J. Fitzgibbons, head of the Famous Players Canadian Corp. and an active leader in getting U.S. producers interested in Canada, also has visited in this capital.

It Didn't Work

Though the president of a well-known Canadian lumber firm told the Prices Commission here that his company refrained from letting prices climb to level in the general lumber market, yet it was discovered the consumers did not get the benefits of cheaper lumber, with retailers' profits merely being increased. Consequently, he admitted his firm had to give up "the pursuit of this ideal".

Said in the Capital

"Development of armour has been a great military benefit to us in North America," said Maj. Gen. W. G. Livesey, Commandant of U.S. Armored School at Fort Knox adding our production abilities and mechanical aptitudes have good effects on the battlefield against opponents who have greater manpower.

"Welfare workers all across the country report the difficulties of our older population with inadequate pensions, few work opportunities and bad housing conditions," stated here Miss Bessie Touzel, secretary Canadian Welfare Council.

"The Division considers health and pocketbooks," explained Dr. C. A. Morrell, Director, Food and Drugs Division, Department of Health of the Canadian Government.

"Without organization, the veteran would be no better off today than he was immediately after the First World War," remarked in a speech here G. Russell Boucher, MP, terming the Veterans' Affairs Committee a "police force".

"There is every reason in the world why your great country should absorb my little country," said here J. B. McEvoy KC, of the Newfoundland delegation now in this capital for negotiations with the Cabinet and officials.

Weekly Wind-Up

It is reported here that Canada has not considered removing her military mission from troubled Berlin in face of the Russian proposal suggesting same.

An alternate minister cannot name an alternate and that is why Premier King appointed Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe as Acting Prime Minister when Acting Premier Louis St. Laurent had to leave suddenly overseas after Mr. King became ill in London. This is the reason Mr. Howe was not named by Mr. St. Laurent, it is pointed out.

Meat prices are expected to drop further, it is hinted here, and this may be an important development in view of the general upward trend in prices of food all along the line in Canada.

In face of rumors to the contrary, Canada's armed services are not planning to use horses or mules and cavalry regiments are things of the past it is emphasized here.

Another rumour discounted in this capital is that butter and gasoline rationing may return. There is no confirmation whatsoever of such stories.

A very well-known Canadian military expert is reported here as having gone on record in favor of "rapid re-armament" of the Western Countries, particularly North America, as a first necessity to keeping peace in the world — and he is said to have stressed, significantly enough the word "rapid".

What Others Say!FARM PROSPERITY

(Creemore Star)

We like to see prosperity on the farms and this year we are seeing it aplenty. The year 1948 will no doubt go down in history as the year of the greatest prosperity among farmers in history. This wave of prosperity however, did not come to every farmer. Those who did not sow could not expect to reap, but those who have products to sell are reaping big returns. Live stock prices have eclipsed all past records. Grain prices are good as also is clover seed. Accordingly the well established farmer has enjoyed a year which may never be repeated. However, no one knows.

MINISTER'S STIPENDS

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

From the interior of British Columbia comes a report of a clergyman owing bills in excess of his year's stipend and of grocers and garage men having to be implored to carry long overdue clerical accounts. That is undoubtedly one reason why a ministerial career, especially in rural areas, is less attractive than it used to be.

AS ELECTIONS APPROACH

(Bowmanville Statesman)

The Midland Free Press believes that it is not too early now to think about municipal elections and prepare. It rises to remark: "In not many months now the electors of the towns, villages, and townships will be called upon to nominate candidates for public office. It is too often the case that nomination day sneaks up unawares and only a few of us have had time to consider the type of men and women we wish to represent us, and to ensure that those men and women are prepared to assume the responsibilities of public office. There may be vacancies in the council, the public utilities commission, and perhaps in the public school board. Now is the time to start thinking about new candidates."

SILLY STUNTS

(Windsor Star)

In Quebec City a youth was killed when he attempted to "ropewalk" the railing about Dufferin Terrace and plunged off the cliff. In Detroit, one twin killed another when they were staging a "wild west style" card game and one pulled a pistol and fired it, thinking the powder had been taken out of the shell.

Perhaps it is impossible to prevent people making fools of themselves. But at least, they can be warned of the danger in being a fool. The number of lives lost annually through sheer silliness—including many traffic accidents—adds up fast. In most cases, where more than one person is involved, there is remorse. But remorse restores no lives.

MORE "D. P.'S"

Apparently the management of the Bata Shoe Co. must have been pleased with the results of their experiment with displaced persons on the shoe lines. Tuesday of this week about forty more "D.P.'s", all girls, started to work in the factory.

BIGGEST INCOMES

From the Financial Post

Doctors make the biggest incomes in Canada according to a report of the Department of National Revenue published in the Financial Post. Their average was $7,466 per year with lawyers in the second-ranking group at $6,528.

In third place were architects with $5,984, followed by dentists with $5,289. From there on all classes were below $4,000 a year. At the bottom of the list was another branch of the medical profession, nurses with average earnings of $1,173.

HOW TO BREAK THE LAW

Under the heading of "Getting Around Exchange Rules" the Windsor Star publishes an editorial which explains in detail how a Canadian by getting into cahoots with someone south of the border who is coming up here for a visit, can circumvent our restrictions on the use of U.S. dollars for pleasure travel. "The procedure is not proper," says the Star at the end of its explanation, "but people have ways of figuring out these schemes." —Saturday Night

MENTAL MECHANISMS

Almost every child in Canada starts life with at least normal mental equipment and normal physical capacities. It is the type of guidance and training received from birth through adolescence that will largely determine the outcome as to mental health. The preservation of mental health begins the day the child is born.

Canada's 1948 oil seed crop will probably be a record. A bumper crop is expected for flaxseed, a new high for soybeans, rapeseed, and sunflower seed.

The programme was under the direction of Mrs. C. Vance and Mrs. Morrow. Rev. A. J. Anderson, rector, gave a very interesting address, followed by a very fine reading by Mrs. Anderson. The society was greatly honoured by His Lordship Bishop Lyons and Mrs. Lyons joining the members for a cup of tea.

Father of Rev. Walker Fatally Injured In Traffic Accident

Struck down by a car while walking home from church Sunday night, John Hugh Walker, age 86, of Bloomsdale Avenue, died in the Port Hope General Hospital about two hours after the accident, as a result of injuries and shock.

According to police, Mr. Walker was returning from St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, where he had been an elder for many years. As he crossed the Mill and Ontario Street intersection, a car driven by Wilfred Roberts, 35, of 47 Margaret street, knocked the elderly man down.

The driver immediately brought his car to a stop, he told police, and rushed the injured man to the Hospital. Dr. R. McDermott attended. Struck at 8:25 p.m., Mr. Walker died in hospital at 11:20 o'clock.

Mr. Walker, who would have celebrated his 87th birthday in two weeks time, was born in Hope Township, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Hugh Walker. He received his education in Hope Township and Port Hope moving there 65 years ago. A prominent citizen there, he was a member of the Town Council for a number of years and in the early days operated a shoe store in partnership with a brother. About 40 years ago, he took up the insurance business and continued this occupation until retirement.

He and his wife, the late Elizabeth Anne Jamieson, marked their Diamond Wedding Anniversary two years ago, September 18, 1946.

He is survived by two daughters, and a son: Mrs. James R. Carr (Florence E.), of 47 Bloomsdale Avenue, Port Hope; Mrs. Roy E. Phiper (Olive Claire), Trenton, New Jersey; and Rev. W. H. V. Walker, Stirling, Ont. There are four grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Service was held Wednesday afternoon.
